P R E F A C E.

ANGLO-SAXON was spoken by our forefathers in England for more than five hundred years; from it have sprung the greater part of our local and family names, very many of our old, and almost all our provincial words and sayings, and fifteen twentieths of what we daily think, and speak, and write. No Englishman therefore altogether ignorant of Anglo-Saxon can have a thorough knowledge of his own mother-tongue, while the language itself, to say nothing of the many valuable and interesting works preserved in it, may in copiousness of words, strength of expression, and grammatical precision, vie with modern German.*

The present object is to furnish the learner, if it may be, with a cheaper, easier, more comprehensive, and not less trustworthy guide to this tongue than may hitherto have been within his reach.

The first six chapters are mainly abridged from the Grammar of the late Professor Rask of Copenhagen, as edited by Mr. Thorpe, whom the compiler has to thank for leave to make use of his praiseworthy labours, and for obliging answers to queries.

* See Thorpe's Advertisement to Rask's Grammar

Some alterations and additions seemed called for by the progress of the study since the publication of that work, whence its improved cultivation in this country must be dated. Illustrations from the kindred new Teutonic dialects German and Dutch, with some from Greek and Latin, old and provincial English &c. have taken the place of the Scandinavian* references as fitter for the English learner. A view, however narrow and imperfect, of languages more or less nearly akin, can hardly fail, it is hoped, to awaken in the understanding student, a wish to know something more of comparative philology, hitherto so unworthily slighted among ourselves, and so laboriously and skilfully worked out by the Germans.

The hyphen is used throughout to divide the parts of compound words from each other, as also prefixes, and when needful, case-endings and other terminations, from roots; in this as in other tongues, the beginner must accustom himself to parse not only every word in a phrase, but every syllable in a word.

Some rules for gender have been attempted, and a list of exceptions to the general rule of its agreement with the German, together with comparative tables of the cardinal numbers, and of the chief tenses, are added.

The accent, sometimes misplaced or left out by Rask, and too often altogether neglected by others, has been carefully attended to.

* Some acquaintance with Icelandic and the other old northern tongues, above all Gothic, which shows the originals of the A. S. inflections, quantity &c., is of course needful for a perfect knowledge of Anglo-Saxon.

The Syntax is in great part new; the examples mostly gathered from the compiler's own reading.

The Extracts in prose and verse are fitted by explanatory notes for use without a dictionary; an analysis of the narrative verse, partly shortened from Rask, and a literal version of the poetry, are also given. The purpose here being to teach pure Anglo-Saxon only, the selections are all from writers of a good age; one well grounded in the language in its perfect state, will not find it hard to bring down his knowledge of his native tongue, through Semi-Saxon, and old and middle English, to our own time.

The Appendix contains lists of words likely to be confounded by learners, together with a number of additional notes. For the length to which the latter have run some apology may be needed, but it seemed best not to lose the opportunity of bringing in, however irregularly, some matter which may be useful.

To Mr. J. M. Kemble, Editor of Beowulf &c., who shares with Mr. Thorpe the honour of making his countrymen independent of foreigners for a right knowledge of their old national language and literature, sincere thanks are due for much very kind, and most valuable help and advice touching the accent, gender, and other hard and weighty points, on which opinions from such an authority cannot be too highly prized. Obliging hints, and the loan of scarce books from other quarters, must also be thankfully acknowledged.

The compiler, feeling what scanty justice has been done to these various and welcome aids, must add that for those faults both of doing, and of leaving undone, which he cannot hope to have avoided, he alone has to answer. Should this imperfect attempt however, by making the speech of the Anglo-Saxons somewhat easier and more attractive than heretofore to their children, give any of these a better knowledge of the real structure, and true spirit, and a greater love for the power and worth of that tongue, which bids fair one day to overspread the whole earth, some time and labour will not have been spent in vain.

TO THE

ANGLO-SAXON TONGUE.

CHAPTER I.

SECT. I.—The Alphabet, &c.

The A. S. letters are 24, viz.

A	a	[Ǽ]	N	n
Æ	æ	[Ǣ]	O	o
B	b		P	p
C	c	[C]	R	r [ʀ]
D	d	[ð]	S	s [ʃ]
E	e	[e]	T	t [t̥]
F	f	[f]	U	u
G	g	[G ȝ]	W	w [ʍ ƿ ƿ]
H	h	[h ȝ ȝ]		x
I	i		Y	y
L	l		þ	þ
M	m	[M]	Ð	ð

The characters between brackets were written by the Anglo-Saxons, but being for the most part mere corruptions of the Roman forms are now seldom printed.

In later times k was used for c; v and z occur in foreign names only. The abbreviations ȝ for and, þ for þæt, the, that, and others were in use; in general — shows that m or n is left out.

II.—Accent.

The accent (') over a vowel shows it to be long. The A. S. accented vowels are mostly long by nature; as, lár lore (G. lehre), bær bier (G. bahre), grén green (G. grün), wíd wide (G. weit), g ó d good (G. gut), r ú m room, space (G. raum), f ý r fire (G. feuer). Some have become long by contraction, g, h, ng, or n, being left out; as, smeagan, smeán to consider, sleahan, sleán to slay, gangan, gán to go, fangan, fón to take: in fíf five, tóð tooth, múð mouth, and the like, the kindred tongues show the omitted n; as, πεντε, L. quinque, G. fünf; ὀ-δους, ὀ-δοντ-ος, L. dens,⁽¹⁾ G. zahn; G. mund: a few from the omission of a vowel; as, tæ, tá toe. From the examples above and below, it will be seen that in English a long or double vowel, and in German a long or double vowel, or diphthong, commonly answers to an A. S. long or accented vowel, while short vowels in general correspond in like manner. The accent serves at the same time, though never used for that purpose merely, to distinguish many words of like spelling but different meaning and sound; as, ac but, ác oak; mæst mast, mæst most; wende turned, went, wénde weened; is is, ís ice; for for, fór journey; ful full,

(1) In A. S. as in Greek, ns does not occur in the same syllable.

fúl foul; hyrde herd, keeper, hýrde heard.⁽²⁾ Without due attention therefore to the accent, A. S. cannot be rightly written, pronounced, nor understood.⁽³⁾

III.—Pronunciation.

The pronunciation is as follows:—

a has the sound of our a in ah; F. &c. short a.

á is longer and broader, like G. &c. long a, approaching our au and aw.

au and aw sound nearly like ow in now, but more open, like G. and Italian au.

æ is pronounced like a in glad.

æ nearly as a in dare; G. eh; F. close é.

e sounds like e in send, rather, when thus placed; before a consonant followed by a vowel it resembles the ea in bear, but is shorter, like F. open è. Before a or o it sounds as y; at the end of a syllable it is very lightly sounded, like the F. unaccented e, or the G. e final.

é is pronounced like æ.

i and y answer to i in dim.

i before another vowel to y.

í an-dý to ee in deem.

o to short o in not; F. open o.

ó to long o in note; F. close ô.

ow is sounded as ow in now.

⁽²⁾ Comp. G. mast, meist; wandte, währte; ist, eis; für, fuhr; voll, faul; hirt, hörte.

⁽³⁾ The more advanced student will find comparison with the Gothic and other ancient dialects the only sure guide to the A. S. quantity.

u as u in full.

ú as oo in fool.

The consonants are pronounced as in English, with the following exceptions :—

c is always hard like k; cw stands for qu, which was however used in later times.

f between two vowels, or at the end of a syllable, sounds like v.

g is never soft; when placed however between two of the vowels æ, e, i, or y, or at the beginning of a syllable before e or i, followed by another vowel, it has the sound of y.⁽¹⁾ cg is usually written for gg.

h is always strongly aspirated; at the end of a syllable or before a hard consonant it is guttural, like the G. ch, the S. ch in loch, and the Irish gh in lough.

hw answers to our wh; h occurs also before l, n and r.

w sometimes, as in E., stands before r; likewise before l.

þ (tha) is our hard th, as in thing.

ð (eth) our soft th, as in other.

þ usually begins, ð ends a syllable, but they were and are often confounded.

IV.—Spelling.

The A. S. spelling was very variable; the following are the commonest changes :—

¹ It is likely that g before e or i, and (like h) at the end of a syllable, was guttural, as it often is in German, and always in Dutch.

á — æ and æ — á; þám, þæm; þære, þære.

a — ea; waldan, wealdan to wield, rule.

a — o and o — a; man, mon⁽²⁾ man; on, an on.

ea — e and e — a; ceaster, cester⁽³⁾ town; fela, feala many; eá — é; teáh, téh drew.

i — y, eo; hit, hyt it: him, heom them.

í — ý, íe, eó; hí, hý, hie, heó they.

eo — u, y, e; sweord, swurd sword; seolf, sylf, self self.

eó — ú, ý; sweótol, swútol, swýtol manifest.

g — h; sorg, sorh care, sorrow.

ng, nc, ngc; sang, sanc, sange song: n and g are often transposed, &c.; þegen, þegn, þeng, þen servant,thane: g is sometimes added or cast off at the end of a word; as, hwý, hwýg why? hefig, hefi heavy: it is often left out before d or ð; mægden, mæden maiden, mægð, mæð tribe.

cs, sc, hs, x; ácsian, áscian, áhsian, áxian to ask (ax).⁽⁴⁾

V.—Change of Letters.

Other changes of letters take place in inflection and derivation; the German synonyms often undergo the like, the English sometimes.

a is changed into æ, and vice versá; grafan to grave, (G. graben); þú græfst thou gravest, (G. du gräbst);

⁽²⁾ P. mon for man, lang for long, and the like.

⁽³⁾ L. castra; hence Chester, -cester, &c. in local names.

⁽⁴⁾ See also nouns II. 2., and irregular comparison.

bæð bath, (G. bad); baðu baths (G. bäder.)⁽¹⁾

a into e; man, man (G. mann); men⁽²⁾ men (G. männer).

á into æ; hál hale, whole, ge-hælan to heal.

ea into e or y; neah nigh, nehst nyhst nighest, next.

e, o, eo, u into i or y; ren rain, rinan to rain; storm storm (G. sturm); styrman to storm (G. stürmen); weorc work (G. werk), wyrcan to work (G. wirken); hunger hunger, hyngrian to hunger.

eá, eó, ú, into ý; leás loose, (G. los); a-lýsan to re-lease (G. er-lösen); neód need (G. noth); nýdan to force (G. nöthigen); scrúd shroud, scrýdan to shroud.

ó into é; dóm doom, déman to deem, doom.

bb into f; a-hebban to exalt, a-hafen exalted ⁽⁴⁾.

c and cc into h; sécan to seek, ic sóhte I sought; feccan to fetch, (ge-)freht fretcht ⁽⁵⁾.

g into h and vice versá; wrígan to cover, ic wráh I covered; beorh mountain, plur. beorgas⁽⁶⁾.

s into r⁽⁷⁾; freósan to freeze, (ge-)frozen frozen.

ð into d⁽⁸⁾; sníðan to cut (G. schneiden), sniden cut (G. ge-schnitten).

Several other changes take place in the formation of imperfects I. 3. and complex; likewise in nouns II. 2., III. 1. 3. and in adjectives.

VI.—Correspondence of Letters.

Attention to the correspondence of A. S. with English and German letters helps not only to recognise words already known in a kindred tongue, but to settle their derivation, spelling, and quantity. Thus—á answers to E. long o; G. ei, l. e; bān⁽⁹⁾ bone, G. bein; máre⁽¹⁰⁾ more, greater, G. mehr.

eá to E. l. e; G. l. o, a, au: streám stream, G. strom; sceáp sheep, G. schaf; ge-leáfa be-lief, G. g-laube.

(⁹) S. bane.

(¹⁰) S. mair.

(¹¹) S. maist.

ý to E. l. i, e; G. l. eu, au, ö: fýr fire, G. feuer;
brýd bride, G. braut; hýran to hear, G. hören.

c (before a soft vowel) to E. and G. ch, k: cyle chill, bridd (young) bird; flacse flask, G. flasche.

CHAPTER II.

I.—Nouns. Gender.

The genders, as in Greek, Latin, German, &c. are three, viz. neuter, masculine, feminine; the first two, as in those tongues, closely resembling each other, the last differing widely from both. A. S. nouns in general agree in gender with the corresponding German; as,

Neuter:	{ wíf	G. weib	woman, wife.
	{ cild	G. kind	child.

Masculine: mona G. mond moon.

Feminine: sunne G. sonne sun.

The chief exceptions are:—

Neut. eár	G. ähre	(f.)	ear of corn.
— fæsten	G. feste	(f.)	fastness.
— fyðer	G. feder	(f.)	feather, wing.

Neut. mód	G. muth	(m.)	mind, mood.
— twig	G. zweig	(m.)	twig.
— wæpen	G. waffe	(f.)	weapon.
— wésten	G. wüste	(f.)	waste, desert.
— wín ⁽¹⁾	G. wein	(m.)	wine.
Masc. cræft	G. kraft	(f.)	power, craft, art.
— ende	G. ende	(n.)	end.
— feld	G. feld	(n.)	field.
— here	G. heer	(n.)	army.
— lust	G. lust	(f.)	lust, pleasure.
— mere ⁽²⁾	G. meer	(n.)	mere, lake, sea.
Fem. bók	G. buch	(n.)	book.
— hælu ⁽³⁾	G. heil	(m.)	health, salvation.
— heorte ⁽⁴⁾	G. herz	(n.)	heart.
— ge-sýhð	G. ge-sicht	(n.)	sight.
— turf	G. torf	(n.)	turf.
— wiht	G. wicht	(m.)	wight, being.

Moreover, all A. S. nouns ending in -dóm, -hád, and -scipe are masculine, while G. nouns in -thum are some neuter, some masculine, in -heit and -schaft feminine; A. S. in -nes (-nys, -nis) feminine, G. in -niss some neuter, some feminine.

Some words are of more than one gender; thus flód⁽⁵⁾ flood is neut. (II. 1.) and masc. (II. 2.); sáe sea masc. (II. 2.) and fem. (I. 3.); bend band, bond masc. (II. 2.) and fem. (II. 3.); lác gift, office, &c. all three (II. 1. 2. 3.), but oftenest neuter.

(²) L. mare, neut.

(³) L. sal-us, fem.

(⁴) Καρδ-ια fem. L. cor, neut.

(⁵) G. fluth fem.; see masc. and fem.; band neut and masc.

FURTHER RULES FOR GENDER.

I. Nouns ending in -tl, -ed, -inle, and diminutives in -en; likewise all having the nominative and accusative alike in both numbers are neuter.

II. Nouns in -a, -m, -ls, -ađ, -ođ, -e (from verbs) and -ling; likewise all forming the genitive singular in -a, or the nominative plural in -as are masculine.

III. Nouns in -æđ, -uđ, -đ (after a consonant) -eo, -u (of quality from adjectives) -e (from adjectives) -ung, and -leást are feminine.

IV. The gender of compound words depends on that of the last part; thus wíf-man woman is masculine. ⁽¹⁾

II.—Declension.

Nouns are divided into two Orders, the Simple and the Complex; ⁽²⁾ the former having one Declension of three Classes for the three Genders, the latter two Declensions of three Classes each ⁽³⁾.

The Simple Order, answering to the Greek and Latin pure nouns, contains those ending in an essential vowel; viz. -e in the neuter, -a in the masculine, and -e in the feminine. The Complex Order, answering to the Gr. and L. impure nouns, comprises all ending in a consonant, together with some in an unessential -e or -u.

(1) By the same rule G. frauen-zimmer female is neut.; manns-person man fem.

(2) In Grimm's system Simple Nouns are called weak; Complex, strong.

(3) For the grounds of this division, see Rask's Grammar, pp. 26—30.

RULES FOR DECLENSION.

I. All Nouns have the nominative and accusative alike in the plural.

II. All Nouns form the ablative and dative plural in -um, often changed to -on, and sometimes again to -an.

III. The ablative and dative are always alike in each number.

IV. Neuters, as in Greek, Latin, and German, have the nominative and accusative alike in each number.

V. Feminines vary the nominative and accusative singular ; but form the ablative, dative, and genitive singular alike.

VI. The Simple Order forms its genitive plural in -ena, the Complex in -a. ⁽¹⁾

III.—Simple Order, or Declension I.

The First Declension contains a few neuters ending in -e, all masculines in -a, and all feminines in -e ; the nominative plural is formed in -an ⁽²⁾. The three Classes are so much alike that they may be shown at one view.

⁽¹⁾ Participial nouns form it in -ra (see II. 2.) like indefinite adjectives. Complex feminines (II. 3. and III. 3.) sometimes have a Simple gen. plural.

⁽²⁾ G. nouns forming their plur. in -en (-n) are Simple, all others Complex.

In like manner are declined eáre ear, clíwe clew; hearra lord, guma man, wyrhta wright, workmán, tíma time, draca dragon, hlísa fame; hlæfdige lady, cirice (circe) church, wuce week, eorðe earth, wise wise, way⁽²⁾ &c. Also some contracted nouns; as, freá lord (masc.) tá toe, beó⁽³⁾ bee (fem.), making freán &c. plural tán, táum, taena; beón, beóna &c. Æ' law, sæseu⁽⁴⁾, and eá river (likewise fem.) are indeclinable, except sometimes gen. eás⁽⁵⁾, nom. plural eán.

(²) Manna man and heofone heaven are much less common than man III. 2. and heofon II. 2.

(³) G. zehe, biene, not contracted.

(⁴) Sá is also declinable, as II. 2.

(⁵) All A. S. nouns originally formed the genitive in -s; see p. 70, n. 4.

IV.—Complex Order. Declension II.

CLASS I.

The Second Declension, first Class, contains many neuters ending in one or more consonants.

Examples—leáf leaf, word word.

SINGULAR.
Nom. & Acc.	leáf	word
Abl. & Dat.	leáf-e	word-e
Gen.	leáf-es	word-es

PLURAL.
Nom. & Acc.	leáf	word
Abl. & Dat.	leáf-um	word-um
Gen.	leáf-a	word-a.

Thus are declined eár ear of corn, hús house, deór ⁽¹⁾ beast, ge-hát promise, hors horse, spel story, spell, wíf woman, wife, bearn child, bairn, lamb lamb &c.; feoh ⁽²⁾ fee, money, cattle makes feo, feos.

V.—CLASS II.

The Second Declension, second Class, comprises all regular masculines ending in a consonant, all complex ones in -e, and a few in -u (-o); the plural is formed in -as; some monosyllables change æ to a in the plural.

(1) Hence deer—"Rats and mice, and such small deer."

(2) Comp. L. pec-us, pec-unia; our fee is money only, G. vieh cattle only.

Examples—dæl part, deal, ende end, dæg day.

SINGULAR.

N. & A. dæl	end-e	dæg
A. & D. dæl-e	end-e	dæg

A. & D. dæl-um	end-um	dag-um
Gen. dæl-a	end-a	dag-a.

Thus also cýning (cing) king, smið smith, stán stone, weg way, freo-dóm freedom, munuc-hád monkhood; mete meat, ráðere reader, weorðscipe worship; stæf ⁽²⁾ staff, letter, mæg kinsman, &c. Participial nouns in -end usually have the nominative and accusative sing. and plur. alike, and make -ra in the gen. plural. Freónd friend, and feónd foe, fiend have plur. frýnd, fýnd, freónd, feónd, or freóndas &c. Dissyllables in -el (-ol), -en (-on), and -er (-or) are contracted in the oblique cases and plural; thus engel angel, dryhten lord, ealdor prince, make engle, engles, englas &c. dryhtne &c. Heofen (-on) heaven has abl. and dat. heofene, heofone, or heofne and so on. Monað (mond) month forms monðe &c. Winter winter has abl. and dat. wintra, nom. pl. wintras, or winter. Feld field, ford ford, and sumer (-or) summer make abl. and dat. felda, forda, sumera.

(2) Comp. G. stab, stäbe; &c. G. buch-stab is letter.

Fæder father is seldom varied in the singular, and never contracted. Nouns in -h, and -u (-o), change them to g and w; as, beáh ring, beáge, beáges &c.; bealu bale, injury, bealwe, and the like: a few drop the -h; as, feorh life, feore &c. Those in sc often take x (cs) in the plural; as, fisc fish, fixas &c.; sometimes throughout; fix, fixe &c.

VI.—CLASS III.

The Second Declension, third Class, contains all regular feminines ending in a consonant; the plural is formed in -a.

Examples—stefen (stefn) voice, spræc speech.

SINGULAR.

Nom.	stefen	spræc
Acc.	stefn-e	spræc-e
A. & D.	stefn-e	spræc-e
Gen.	stefn-e	spræc-e

PLURAL.

N. & A.	stefn-a	spræc-a
A. & D.	stefn-um	spræc-um
Gen.	stefn-a(-ena)	spræc-a(-ena).

Thus are declined sáwel soul, wylen female slave, frófer comfort, ge-samnung assembly, écnys eternity, lág law, stów place, þeód people, lár lore, myrð mirth, bén prayer, &c. Dissyllables in -el (-ol), -en, -er (-or), are contracted in the oblique cases, and often in all; as, sáwl, wyln, frófr. A single final consonant after a short vowel is doubled; as syn sin, accus. &c. synne. The gen. plur. is sometimes in -ena. Nouns in -ung sometimes form the abl. and dat. in -a. Hand hand, makes accus. hand, abl. and dat. handa. Miht might, tíd time, tide, woruld world, have the accus. like the nom.; woruld sometimes makes gen. worldes.⁽¹⁾ Niht night, and wiht wight remain unchanged in the accus. singular, and nom. plural.

VII.—Declension III.

CLASS I.

The Third Declension, first Class, contains all complex neuters in -e, all in -u, all neuter dissyllables in er (-or), -el (-ol), and -en, some in ed (-od), and many monosyllables in a consonant. The plural is in -u (-o), often changed to -a; some monosyllables change æ, and a few ea, into a in the plural.

Examples—treów tree, ríce realm, fæt vat, vessel.

SINGULAR.

N. & A.	treów	ric-e	fæt
A. & D.	treów-e	ric-e	fæt-e

So likewise scip ship, lim limb, deófol⁽¹⁾ devil, wæter water, ge-writ writing, writ; wíte punishment, ge-mære boundary, spere spear, melu meal, flour; bæð bath, glæs ⁽²⁾ glass, geat gate, &c.

Dissyllables are mostly contracted; thus, heáfod head, tácen token, wunder wonder, make heáfde, heáfdes &c. tácne, wundre &c.; nýten beast, neat, weofod altar, &c. are usually not. Those in -en sometimes double the n in the oblique cases; as, wésten desert, wéstenne &c. Cild child, cealf calf, and æg egg, form their plural cildru (-a) ⁽³⁾, cealfu, ægru; the first however often has cild or cilde. þýstru darkness, lendenu loins, &c. have no singular. Nouns in -u take w, and are usually contracted, forming the plural in -a; as, searu array, ambush, searwe, searwes; plur. searwa &c.

VIII.—CLASS II.

The Third Declension, second Class, comprises masculines in -u (-o), forming their plural in -a, some irregulars (masc. and fem.) in -er (-or), changing their vowel in the ablative and dative, and making -u (-o, -a) in the plural, a few (masc.) changing their vowel as above, and in the nominative and accusative plural, &c.

⁽²⁾ Comp. G. fass, fässer; glas, gläser.

⁽³⁾ Hence childr-en, P. child-er; comp. G. kind, kind-er; kalb, kälb-er; ei, ei-er: D. kind, kind-er-en; kalf, kalv-er-en; ei, eij-er-en.

So too are declined wudu wood, sidu custom, medo mead, metheglin; móder mother, dóhter daughter, sweoster sister: fót foot, and tóð tooth, follow *man*² making fét, téð. ⁽⁵⁾ Sun-ena is rare.

Leóde (G. leute) people, Dene Danes, Engle Angles, Englishmen, and a few more in -e with no singular, make leódum, leóda, &c.

IX.—CLASS III.

The Third Declension, third Class, contains all feminines ending in -u or -o, also some irregulars which change their vowel, &c. The former sometimes make the genitive plural in -ena.

Examples—denu vale, bók book, burh burgh, town.

SINGULAR.

Nom.	den-u	}	bók	burh
Acc.	den-e
A. & D.	den-e		béc	byrig

	PLURAL.
N. & A. den-a	béc	byrig
A. & D. den-um	bóc-um	burg-um
Gen. den-a (-ena)	bóc-a	burg-a.

Like denu are declined lufu love, gifu gift, grace, snóru daughter-in-law, caru care, lagu water, &c. Mænigeo (-u) many, multitude, yldo age, eld, brædo breadth, and some others in-o are indeclinable, except abl. and dat. plur. mænigum. Duru door makes abl. and dat. sing. dura. Collectives in -waru, as burh-waru town's-folk, form plur. -ware, gen. -wara or -warena. Mús mouse, lús louse, cú cow, gós goose, bróc breeches, follow bóc, making plur. mýs mice, lýs lice, cý kye, gés⁽¹⁾ geese, bréc. Cú sometimes has gen. sing. cús,⁽²⁾ gen. plur. cúna. Turf turf, and furh furrow, follow burh, making tyrf, &c.

CHAPTER III.

I.—Adjectives

As in German &c. have a Definite and an Indefinite inflection: the former is used when the adjective is preceded by the definite article, by any other demonstrative, or by a possessive pronoun; the latter always else. There are three Declensions, one for the Definite form, agreeing closely with the Simple Order, two for the Indefinite, answering, though not so exactly, to the Complex Order of Nouns.

(2) See page 70, n. 4.

II.—Definite Declension.

Example—(gód good) þæt gód-e⁽³⁾ &c. the good.

SINGULAR.
Neut.	Masc.	Fem.
Nom. þæt gód-e	se gód-a	seó gód-e

Gen. þæs gód-an		þære gód-an
PLURAL.
N. & A. þa gód-an
A. & D. þám gód-um
Gen. þára gód-ena.

This declension is used for all adjectives, participles, and pronouns in general; participles present however take -ra instead of -ena in the genitive plural. Monosyllables commonly change æ to a throughout; as, smæl small, þæt smale, se smala, seó smale the small, and so on. Adjectives in -h, as heáh high, usually change it to g when the case-ending is a vowel, as, þæt heág-e, &c.; otherwise the h is dropt; as, abl. &c. heán. Those in -u (-o), as near-u narrow, take w throughout; as, þæt near-we, &c.⁽⁴⁾

(3) Comp. Nouns I. 1, 2, 3.

PLURAL.
	Neut.	Masc. & Fem.
N. & A.	gód(-u)	gód-e
A. & D.		gód-um
Gen.		gód-ra.

Thus are declined adjectives ending in -e, -el (-ol), -isc, and -wís; likewise most monosyllables, all participles present, participles past of the Simple Order, superlatives and pronouns; as, wyrð-e worth, worthy, dýg-el dark, sprec-ol talkative, menn-isc human, ge-wís sure, sóð true, sooth, leóht light, heard hard, seóc sick, wrec wretched, fæst fast, &c.

Those in -e drop it when a syllable of inflection is added; wyrð-ne, wyrð-um, wyrð-re, &c.

Adjectives in -h and -u follow the rules given above; accus. masc. heá-nne, nearo-ne; abl. &c. fem. heá-re, near-we or near-e; gen. plur. heá-ra, near-wa or near-a.

PLURAL.
	Neut.	Masc. & Fem.

Thus are declined monosyllables with æ (except fæst) &c., most adjectives with derived endings, and participles past of the Complex Order; some of both the latter, however, follow Declension I. As, læt late, slow, swær heavy, glæd glad, bær bare, swæs sweet, dear, til good, eád-ig blessed, prosperous, fær-líc sudden, dangerous, ge-sib-sum peaceable, mæg-er meagre, hlutt-or-clear, fæg-en glad, fain. Some dissyllables are contracted in certain forms, as, hál-ig holy, hál-ge, hál-ges, &c., but gen. plur. hál-igra and the like.

(1) Comp. Nouns III. 1, 3.

V.—Comparison.

The Comparative and Superlative Degrees are regularly formed by adding -or and -ost⁽¹⁾, (E. and G. -er and -est), to the indefinite form; as, leóf, leóf-or, leóf-ost dear, dear-er, dear-est (G. lieb, lieb-er, lieb-est): æ usually becomes a; as, smæl, smæl-or, smæl-ost, small, small-er, small-est. (G. schmal, schmal-er, schmal-est.) The ending -or is however only adverbial; as an adjective the Comparative is formed in -re, -ra, -re, whether used definitely or indefinitely; as, (þæt) leóf-re, (se) leóf-ra, (seó) leóf-re (the) dearer; (G. das &c. lieb-re) (þæt) smæl-re &c. (the) smaller; (G. das &c. schmal-re). The Superlative has both the definite and indefinite inflections, the former in -ost, or -est, (also the adverbial form), the latter in -oste, -osta, -oste, or -este &c.; as, leóf-ost dearest, þæt leóf-oste, or leóf-este &c. the dearest; (G. das &c. lieb-ste.)

The following adjectives are irregularly compared; the change of a into e; æ into a; eá into ý, or é; ea, eo, u, into y, answers to that of the German a into ä, o into ö, u into ü: in English but few traces of this remain. Meh, mec (L. mihi, G. mich) and þeh, pec (G. dich) sometimes occur for me and þe: likewise the poetical úsih, úsic, and eówih, eówic for ús and eów; and uncit and incit, for unc and inc.

There being, as in English, no reflective pronoun, the personals are used instead; as, ic me reste I rest me (myself); þa þeówas wyrmdon híg, the servants were warming them (-selves). Sylf self, same, declined as an adjective both definitely and indefinitely (I.), and agreeing with the pronoun or noun, gives a strong reflective sense; as, ic sylf or sylfa I myself; fram me sylfum of myself; þú sylf thou thyself; we sylfe we ourselves, &c.; seó sylfe tíð the same time.⁽²⁾ Sometimes the pronoun stands in the dative before sylf; as, (ic) me sylf I myself; him-sylf he himself.⁽³⁾

(2) Comp. G. ich selber, wir selben, die selbe zeit, &c.

(3) Like F. moi-même, lui-même; hence seemingly my-self, thy-self, &c.: self is properly no more a noun than αὐτός, L. ipse, or F. même.

II.—Possessives.

The Possessive Pronouns are formed, as in German, from the genitives of the two first persons; as, mín (G. mein) mine, my; þín (G. dein) thine, thy; uncer, úre (G. unser) our; incer, eówer (G. euer) your: like other Pronouns in general, they are declined as indefinite adjectives I. Those in -er are usually contracted; as uncer, eówres, and the like. U're forms úrum, úres, &c; but remains unchanged in the whole feminine singular. The poetical úser (usser) for úre is thus declined:—

	PLURAL.
	N. & A. usse, úser
	A. & D. ussum
	G. ussa.

The genitive of the third person is used unchanged; his, its, his, hire her, hira their. To make these reflective, the genitive of sylf agreeing with the pronoun, or the indefinite adjective ágen own, agreeing with the noun, must be used; as, þín sylfes bearn thine own son; tó his ágenre þearfe to his own need. Sín occurs in poetry as a possessive of the third person; not however like G. sein, for L. ejus, but for L. suus only.

III.—Demonstratives.

The Demonstrative Pronouns are þæt, se, seó that, likewise the relative which, who, that, and the article the; ⁽¹⁾ and þis, þes, þeós this.

	Neut.	Masc.	Fem.		Neut.	Masc.	Fem.
N.	þæt ⁽²⁾	se	seó		þis ⁽³⁾	þes	þeós
A.	þæt	þone	þá		þis	þisne	þás
Abl.	þý		þý		þise		þisse
D.	þám		þære		þisum		þisse
G.	þæs		þære		þises		þisse
	N. & A.	þa				þás
	A. & D.	þám				þisum
	G.	þára				þissa

þæne, þám, þære, þára, are sometimes used for þone, þám, þære, þára; likewise þæs for þás; the s in þise, &c. is often doubled; þissere and þissera occur also for þisse and þissa. The indeclinable þe is used for all cases of þæt, se, seó, as a relative; combined with it it forms þæt-te ⁽⁴⁾ that which, se-þe he that, seó-þe she that. þæt, se, seó is sometimes repeated in a sentence, standing first as a demonstrative, and next as a relative; but þe commonly stands as

(¹) Comp. the threefold use of G. das, der, die.

(²) Comp. το, ὁ, ἡ, τον, τα, τοι, ται; G. das, den, dem, der, des, &c. D. dat, &c. From seó comes she (G. sie); from þa they, þám them, þára their.

(³) Comp. G. dies, &c.; þás and þæs have become those and these.

(⁴) þætte is also that (conjunction) G. dass.

relative in the second place; as, þæt micle ge-teld þe Moises worhte, the great tent that Moses made.

þe is sometimes used along with hit, &c. as a relative; as, þe þurh hine through whom.

Swá is sometimes used (like G. so) as an indeclinable relative.

Ylc same, follows the indefinite declension.

Swylc such, is often repeated, standing in the second place adverbially; as, Ælc þing on-gitan swylc swylce hit is to understand each thing so as it is.

IV.—Interrogatives.

The Interrogative Pronouns are hwæt, hwá? what? who? hwylc? which? hwæðer whether? which? The first has no plural, and is thus declined:

Neuter.	Masc. & Fem.
Nom. hwæt	hwá
Acc. hwæt	hwone (hwæne)
Abl. hwý
Dat. hwám (hwæm)
Gen. hwæs ⁽⁵⁾

It answers to L. quis not qui, and is never used as a relative: with a neuter adjective it governs the genitive; as, hwæt yfeles? what evil? it is also (like G. et-was, was) used not interrogatively, for somewhat, a little; as, hwæt lytles some little.

⁽⁵⁾ From hwám and hwæs, are whom and whose.

V.—Indefinites.

The Indefinite pronouns are swá-hwæt(-swá) what-so-ever, swá-hwá (-swá) who-so-ever, swá-hwylc (-swá) which-so-ever, æg-hwæt (ge-hwæt), æg-hwylc, &c. whatsoever, &c. which follow the declension of the chief word in the compound. Others are ælc, each, every one, eall all, ænig any, nænig none whatever, án-lipig (æn-lipig) single, alone, &c. Ge-noh enough is sometimes indeclinable. A'n one, a, and sum some, a, a certain, serve for the indefinite article, which is however often not expressed : sum placed after a genitive cardinal number implies one above it ; as, fíf-tyna sum one of sixteen, one with fifteen others. Manig (mænig) many sometimes has nom. and accus. plur. manega. Fela much, many is indeclinable : feáwa (feá) few, sometimes has abl. and dat. plur. feáwum, gen. feára ; both often govern a genitive plural ; as, mádma fela many treasures ; feá worda few words. Man (man) is used (like G. man, and F. on) (¹) indefinitely for one, they ; as, Me man sægde they told me (G. man sagte mir). From wiht (wuht) creature, being, (wight, whit) are formed á-wiht (á-wuht) contracted to áwht, áht anything, ought ; and nán-wiht (-wuht) n á w h t, n á h t (²) nothing, nought. Other indefinite Pronouns are ó ð e r (-or) other, second (L. alius, and alter for secundus), á w ð e r, á ð e r one of two (L. alter duorum), n á w ð e r (n á ð o r), neither of two (L. neuter), æ g ð e r either, each of two. O'd e r forms its oblique cases fem. sing. ó d r e ; it sometimes follows indefinite Decl. II.

	hund-twelftig	120
duizend	púsend	thousand	tausend.

A'n, like all other pronouns, follows indef. Decl. I., sometimes making accus. masc. ænne; thus too nán none. Used definitely, áne, ána, áne, and standing after its noun, &c., it means alone. Twá ⁽²⁾ and þreo are thus declined:—

	Neut.	Masc.	Fem.	Neut.	Masc.	Fem.
N. & A.	twá (tú)	twegen ⁽³⁾	twá	þreo	þrý	þreo
	A. & D. twám (twæm)			þrym
	G. twegra (twega)			þreora.

Bá, begen, bá both, follows twá; prefixed to twá it forms bá-twá (bú-tú) ⁽⁴⁾ which is indeclinable. The numbers feower to twelf inclusive, when used absolutely, have a nom. in -e, &c.; as, ealle seofone all seven; án of þám twelfum one of the twelve; án

⁽¹⁾ The t- is probably a remnant of the prefix h o n d- retained before the vowel.

⁽²⁾ S. twa. G. zwei, zwo.

⁽³⁾ Twain. G. zween.

⁽⁴⁾ Hence both, G. beide; comp. Italian ambe-due.

þissa fífa one of these five. Those above eahta usually govern a genitive. Twentig and the others in -tig make abl. and dat. -tigum, gen. -tigra. Hund prefixed to the tens after sixtig (answering to -κοῦτ-α, L. -gint-a) is sometimes dropt when hund hundred goes before; as, scipa án hund and eahtatig, of ships one hundred and eighty. Hund (hundred) follows II. 1; hundred and þúsend, III. 1.

Units are placed before tens, as, six and fíftig, six and fifty. In numbers above a hundred, the smaller stands last, and the noun is repeated; as, Hundteontig wintra and seofon and feowertig wintra, a hundred winters and seven and forty winters.⁽⁵⁾

Wintre affixed to numbers forms adjectives denoting age; as, fram twi-wintrum cilde, from the child of two years.

VII.—Ordinal Numbers.

þæt forme, se forma, seó forme	first
þæt, se, seó óder	second
þæt þry-dde, se þry-dda, seó þry-dde ⁽⁶⁾	thir-d

hund-seofontigode	seventieth
hund-eahtatigode	eightieth
hund-nigontigode	ninetieth
hund-teontigode	hundredth
hund-endlufontigode	110th
hund-twelftigode	120th

Units combined with ordinal tens stand first when cardinals, last when ordinals; as, án and þryttigode one and thirtieth; þý twentigoðan dæge and þý feorðan dæge Septembris, on the twenty and fourth day of September.

Healf half placed after an ordinal number (like G. halb) reduces it by half; as, óðer-healf (lit. second-half) one and a half, (G. andert-halb); þridde-healf

(lit. third-half) two and a half (G. dritte-halb).⁽¹⁾ A'n, twá, þreo, form æn-e once, twi-wa (tu-wa) twice, þry-wa thrice; with the other cardinals, and all the ordinals, síð a time is used in the ablative for the same purpose; as, feower, fíf, &c. síðum or síðon four, five, &c. times; (þý) forman, óðre, þryddan, &c. síðe the first, second, third, &c. time.

CHAPTER V.

I.—Verbs. Conjugation.

THERE are two Orders of Verbs, as of Nouns; viz. the Simple and the Complex; ⁽²⁾ the former containing pure or open Verbs answering to the Greek in -αειν, -εειν, and -οειν, and to the Latin in -are, -ēre, and -ire; the latter impure or close Verbs, answering to the Greek regulars, and to the Latin in -ěre, &c.⁽³⁾ The Simple Order forms its imperfect by adding -ode (-ede), -de, or -te to the root; the participle past by adding -od (-ed), -d, or -t: in the Complex the imperfect becomes monosyllabic and changes its vowel; the participle past ends in -en.⁽⁴⁾ The former is divided into three Classes forming one Conjugation; the latter into two Conjugations of three Classes each.

⁽²⁾ Simple Verbs are by Grimm termed Weak, Complex Strong.

⁽³⁾ See Rask's Grammar, pp. 67—70.

⁽⁴⁾ E. and G. verbs in general follow the A.S., though complex forms have in each not seldom become simple.

INFINITIVE MODE.

Pres.	luf-ian	hýr-an	tell-an
Gerund.	tó luf-igenne	—hýr-enne	—tell-anne
Part. pres.	luf-igende	hýr-ende	tell-ende
P. past (ge-)	luf-od	(ge-) hýr-ed	(ge-) teal-d.

The first form of the present indicative, and of the imperative plural, is used when the pronoun comes first, or is left out; as, we lufiað we love, hýrað hear; the second when the pronoun follows close; as, telle ge tell ye? The subjunctive plural sometimes ends in -an or -en; as, lufian, hýrden, and the like. The gerund, which is always preceded by tó, and seems to be a kind of dative of the infinitive, answers to our infinitive present, active and passive, and to the Latin supines, infinitive future, active and passive, &c.; as, Come þú ús tó for-spillanne? camest thou to destroy us? L. nos perditum. Hwæðder is éðre tó cwedaðne? whether is easier to say? L. facilius dictu. Eart þú se-þe tó cumenne eart? art thou he that is (art) to come?

L. qui venturus est. Heó býð tó lufigenne ⁽¹⁾ she is (must be, or ought) to be loved, L. amanda est. The infinitive of the first Class is often formed in -igan, sometimes in -igean, for -ian, and g is put in or left out in some other forms with little or no change of pronunciation. The Gerund of the third Class sometimes makes -enne for -anne. Ge- may be prefixed to any part of verbs in general, but is oftenest used with the imperfect, and especially with the participle past, though not, as in German, to be considered the sign of the latter.⁽²⁾

IV.—Class I.

Like lufian are conjugated:

Present.	Imperfect.	Part. past.
hatige	hatode	(ge-)hatod	hate
losige	losode	losod	be lost
clypige	clypode	clypod	call, clepe
fullige	fullode	fullod	baptize
fúlige	fúlode	fúlod	rot
cunnige	cunnode	cunnod	try
wacige ⁽³⁾	wacode	wacod	watch
hangige ⁽⁴⁾	hangode	hangod	hang
hýrige	hýrode	hýrod	hire
hergige	hergode	hergod	harry
macige	macode	macod	make
bletsige	bletsode	bletsod	bless.

(1) Hence the phrases "house to let," "he is to blame," &c.

(2) Ge- is seldom used before another prefix.

(3) Neut. L. vigilare; act. weccan.

(4) Neut. L. pendere; act. hangan, hón.

Some verbs of this Class, especially those having e for their vowel, form their imperfect and part. past in -ede and ed, as well as -ode and od; as, herian to praise, seglian to sail, ge-fremian to profit, which make herede, (ge-)hered, or herode, herod; seglede, and the like: -ode and -od are sometimes changed into -ade and -ad. Swerian to swear, borrows some tenses from a complex form, making imperf. swerede or swóre swore; imp. subj. swóre; imper. swera or swere; part. past (ge-)sworen sworn. Folgian, fyligan, or fylian to follow, has imperf. folgoðe, fyligðe, or fylide; imper. folga or fylig.

V.—Class II.

The second Class forms its imperfect and participle past in -de and -ed, or in -te and -t, according to its characteristic letter; the hard consonants, viz. t, p, c, x, requiring -te and -t; the soft, viz. d, ð, f, g, w, l, m, n, r, s, taking -de and -ed; as,

Present.	Imperf.	Part. past.
méte	métte	(ge-)mét	meet(met)
lette	lette	lett	let, hinder
dyppe	dyppte	dypt	dip(-t)

lixe	lixte	lixt	gleam(-ed)
læde	lædde	læded	lead(led)
sende	sende	send	send
cýðe	cýðde	cýðed	make known
ge-lýfe	ge-lýfde	ge-lýfed	believe(-d)

Present.	Imperf.	Part. past.
wrége	wrégde	wréged	be-wray(-ed)
be-læwe	be-læwde	be-læwed	accuse(-d)
fylle	fylde	fylled	fill(-ed)
týme	týmde	týmed	teem(-ed)
wéne	wénde	wéned	ween(-ed)
lære	lærde	læred	teach
ræse	ræsdde	ræsed	rush(-ed).

Some verbs in -gan are contracted; as, þreagan, þreán to vex, reproach, tveógan, tveón to doubt: pres. þreage or þreá, þreást, þreáð; pl. þreagað, þreáð, &c.; tveóge or tveó, tveóst, tveóð, &c.; imperf. þreáde, tveóde; part. past þreáð, tveóð.

The second and third persons singular sometimes make -est, -eð, especially when many consonants might otherwise meet; as, nemne (I) name, nemnest, nemneð; imperf. nemde: some have both forms; as, læde, lætst, læt, or lædest, lædeð; part. past læded or læd. Verbs with s, d, and t form the third person in -t; as, ræse, ræst; sende, sent; méte, mét: those with ð in ð, as cýðe, cýð; imperf. cýðde or cýdde; p. past cýðed or cýd. Verbs in this and the following classes with a double characteristic, drop one letter and take -e in the imperative; as, dyppe, dype, and the like. To this class belong several transitives, derived from intransitives of the Complex Order; as, bærnán to burn (act.), from byrnán to burn (neut.); drenčan (') to drench, from drinčan to drink; fyllan to fell, from (') Comp. G. tránken, fállén, senken, setzen, from trínken, fállén, sínken, sízen.

feallan to fall; a-ræran to rear, from a-risan to arise; sencan to sink (act.), from sincan to sink (neut.); settan to set, from sittan to sit; ærnian to let run, from yrnan to run. Lybban to live, and hycgan to think, borrow some forms from leofian, and hogian: they are thus conjugated:—

Indic. pres. 1. lybbe	Subj. pres. lybbe
2. leofast	plur. lybbon

Ger. lybbenne	P.past (ge-)leofod.

Hæbban or habban⁽¹⁾ to have, has some forms as if from hafian: it is thus conjugated:—

Ind. pres. 1. hæbbe (habbe)	Subj. pres. habbe (hæbbe)
2. hæfst (hafast)	plur. habbon
3. hæfd (hafað)	Imperf. hæfde

or hafo. Nabban (for nehabban) to have not, has an Indicative, Subjunctive, and Imperative, following habban.

VI.—Class III.

The third Class changes e into ea, é into ó, &c. in the imperfect, forming it in -de or -te, and the part. past in -d or -t by the rules given above. The English synonyms commonly change the vowel in like manner, the German sometimes.

Pres.	Imperf.	Part. past.

séce	sóhte	sóht	seek (sought)
bringe ⁽³⁾	bróhte	bróht	bring (brought)
wyrce	worhte	worht	work (wrought)

Secge makes 3 sing. pres. segð or sagað; imperf. sege or saga. The impersonal þincan (G. dünken) to seem, must not be confounded with þencan (G. denken) to think. þincan makes 3 sing. pres. þincð (G. dünkt) (me-)thinks; plur. þincað; imperf. þúhte (G. dünkte) (me-)thought; part. past (ge-)þúht.

(²) Also rehte, &c.; réce. róhte is another form.

(³) Comp. G. bringe, brachte, ge-bracht.

þencan makes imperf. þóhte (G. dachte) thought; part. past (ge-)þóht (G. ge-dacht).

A few transitives also from complex intransitives belong to this class; as, a-cwellan to kill (quell), from a-cwelan to perish (quail); lecgan ⁽¹⁾ to lay, from licgan to lie; weccan to awaken, from wacan to wake. Willan⁽²⁾ to will, and nyllan⁽³⁾ to will not, are thus conjugated:

þearf⁽¹⁾, þearft or þurfe, þurfon; subj. þurfe; imp. þorfte; inf. þearfan: need.

XVI.—Auxiliaries, &c.

The A. S. has no future tense, the present serving for both: wille and sceal, like G. will and soll, imply will, duty, and the like, and are not used like will and shall, to form a simple future; the present of beón has commonly a future power. The perfect and pluperfect are formed as in English, German, &c. by means of the verb to have; as, ic hæbbe (ge-)lufod I have loved.⁽²⁾ The participle past being as in the above-named tongues the only true passive form, the passive tenses are formed throughout by the help of the auxiliaries wesan, weorðan, and beón to be; as, present ic eom, or weorðe lufod⁽³⁾ I am loved; imperf. ic wæs, or weard lufod; perf. ic eom lufod worden I have been loved; pluperf. ic wæs lufod worden I had been loved; future, ic beó lufod I shall be loved.

Impersonal verbs are like those of other languages; as, hit rind it rains; hit ge limpð it happens. Some have a passive sense; as, a-lýfd it is allowed, lawful (L. licit); ge-wyrð it is agreed, seems good (L. convenit).

(¹) G. darf, durfte.

(²) The imperfect is often used for the pluperfect.

(³) Comp. G. ich habe, hatte, werde, wurde, ge-liebt; ich bin, war, geliebt worden.

CHAPTER VI.

I.—Formation of Words. Prefixes.

As in Greek, Latin, German, &c. this branch of the language must be strictly attended to, if we would learn the origin, gender, and inflection of words: it consists of Derivation, and Composition, in both which the A. S. closely resembles the German. Derivation either modifies the meaning of a word by putting before it a prefix, or changes its part of speech, and inflection, by adding a termination. Composition forms new words by joining one or more together.

The following are the chief prefixes:

un- (on-) (L. in-; E. and G. un-): un-scyldig (G. un-schuldig) in-nocent; un-tigian to un-tie.

n- (ne not; L. ne): n-yllan (for newillan; L. n-olle for ne velle) to will not, nill; n-án none.

mis- (E. mis-; G. miss-, misse-): mis-truwian (G. mis-trauen) to mis-trust; mis-dæd (G. misse-that) mis-deed.

wan-⁽⁴⁾ (wana wanting): wan-hál unhealthy.

to-⁽⁵⁾ (L. dis-; G. zer-): to-breca (L. dis-rumpere, G. zer-brechen) to break in pieces; to-drífan (L. dis-pellere, G. zer-treiben) to scatter, drive away.

(⁴) Hence O. wan-hope (D. wan-hoop) despair; wan-trust (D. wan-trouw) mis-trust.

(⁵) Hence O. to-broken, to-torn &c. The prefix to- must be carefully distinguished from the preposition tó.

for-(') (L. per- ; F. for- ; G. ver-): for-beóðan (G. ver-bieten) to for-bid ; for-swerian (L. per-jurare) to for-swear ; for-gán to for-go ; for-bærnan (G. ver-brennen) to burn up, consume ; for-gifan (G. ver-geben) to give away, for-give.

wider- (wið against ; G. wider-): wiðer-saca (G. wider-sacher) adversary.

and- (ǽnri; G. ant-): and-wlíta (G. ant litz) coun-tenance.

ge- (G. ge- ; L. com-, con-, co-): has in general a collective sense ; as, ge-bróðra (G. ge-brüder) brethren ; ge-scý (G. ge-schuhe, F. chaussure) shoes ; ge-mæne (G. ge-mein, L. com-mune) common ; ge-fera (G. ge-fährte, L. com-es) companion ; it forms active verbs from neuters, nouns, &c. as, ge-standan to urge ; ge-þencan (G. ge-denken) to think of, remember ; ge-strangian to strengthen ; ge-leánian to reward ; ge-niderian to de-grade, condemn ; from standan, þencan, strang, leán (reward), nider ; or gives a figurative sense ; as, biddan to ask, beg, ge-biddan to pray. Many words, however, take ge- without any change of meaning ; as, seón, ge-seón to see ; hýran, ge-hýran to hear, obey ; mearc, ge-mearc mark, limit ; rúm, ge-rúm wide, roomy.

be- (E. and G. be-) makes neuter verbs active ; as, gán to go, be-gán to commit, &c. (G. gehen, be-gehen) ; feran to go, be-feran to travel over (G. fahren, be-fahren). It is sometimes privative ; as, bycgan to buy, be-bycgan to sell ; be-heáfðian to be-head: often intensive; as, reáfian to rob, be-reáfian to be-reave (G. rauben, be-rauben); be-gyrdan (G. be-gürten) to begird; or otherwise modifies the sense; as, be-healdan to be-hold, be-sprecan (G. be-sprechen) to be-speak.

(') Hence O. for-done, for-spent, &c. The prefix for- must not be confounded with the preposition for, which seems not to occur in composition.

ed- (again, re-): ed-niwian to re-new.

Other verbs in general form the infinitive in -an.

V.—Particles.

Adverbs, prepositions, and conjunctions, are either primitive words, that is, not to be further resolved in the language treated of, or are formed from nouns (often obsolete), adjectives, &c. governed by a preposition expressed or understood. Of the former kind are nú now, geó (iú), formerly, eft again, get (iet), yet, be by, &c. for for, tó to, ac but, gif if, &c. Of the latter kind, (to take the cases in order) are the accusatives on-weg (a-weg) a-way; on-bæc (under-, ofer-bæc) a-back, back; (on-)ge-mang a-mong; on-gean (a-gen) a-gain, a-against; ealne-weg al-way.

Other ablatives are the conjunctions for-þý therefore; (for-) hwý? (for) why?; datives for-þám because, tó-þón-þæt in order that, síð-þán (G. seit-dem) since.

VI.—Composition.⁽⁶⁾

The A. S. language, like the Greek, German, &c.
abounds in compound words, of which the last part commonly settles the part of speech. Nouns and adjectives are usually compounded together, and with verbs, without change, as in English, &c.; as, fíc-treow fig-tree, heáfod-man (G. haupt-mann) head-man, captain, heáhsacerd, high-priest, bisceop-ricé bishop-ric, stæf-cræft letter-craft, grammár, medo-ærn⁽⁷⁾ mead-hall, þeow-boren slave-born, stede-fæst stead-fast, bealo-full baleful, snáw-hwít (G. schnee-weiss) snow-white, íren-heard (G. eisen-hart) as hard as iron, lif-fæst an ⁽⁵⁾ D. boven; “Oranje boven!” ⁽⁶⁾ See Rask, pp. 113—117.

⁽⁷⁾ Or -ern; sealt-ern salt-ern.

to quicken, ful-fremman (G. voll-bringen) to ful-fil, and the like.

A noun, however, standing first, is often put in the genitive case, especially in local names; as, dómes-dæg doom's-day, hilde-byrne war-corslet; Engla-land England, land of the Angles; Cant-wara-burh Canterbury, burgh of the Kenters; Cinges-tún King's-town, Kingston; Beorminga-hám Birming-ham, home of the Beormings; Oxena-ford Ox-ford, ford of oxen; from dóm, hild, Engle, Cant-ware, cing, Beorming, oxa. One or each part is sometimes shortened, &c.; as, frum-cenned first-born, æl-beorht all-bright, mild-heort mild-hearted; from fruma beginning, eall, milde, heorte. Prepositions and adverbs commonly stand before verbs, &c. without change, as in English, German, &c.; as, ymb-gang (G. um-gang) circuit; purh-faran (G. durch-fahren) to go through; wið-standan (G. wider-stehen) to with-stand; tó-cyme coming to (L. ad-ventus); fore-rynel fore-runner; fore-mihtig (L. præ-potens) very mighty; úp-riht (G. auf-recht) up-right; úp-stígan⁽¹⁾ (G. auf-steigen) to go up; niðer-stígan (G. nieder-steigen) to go down; ford-gán (G. fort-gehen) to go forth; út-lág out-law (L. ex-lex); ofer-cuman to over-come; ofer-mód (G. über-muth) pride; under-niman (G. unter-nehmen) to under-take; fram-ge-wítan to depart from; in-láedan (G. ein-leiten) to lead in; geond-geótan to pour through, suffuse; on-gean-cyrran to turn back again; of-sceótan

(G. ab-schiessen) to shoot off; æfter-fyligend successor, one who follows after; mid-síðian to travel with; sundor-spræc conversation apart; samod-(sam-)-wyrcean to work together, co-operate.

The preposition be, bi, usually becomes big in composition; as, big-spel (G. bei-spiel) example, parable; big-standan (G. bei-stehen) to stand by; it may thus be known from the particle be, which sometimes becomes bi; as, be-standan, bi-standan (G. be-stehen) to stand on, occupy.⁽²⁾ On often becomes an- or a-; as, on-bídan, an-bídan, a-bídan to a-bide. Æt and oð in composition often mean from, away; as, æt-berstan to burst away, oð-yrnan to run away, escape, like G. ent-bersten, -rinnen.

Particles are also freely compounded together.

Prepositions, and other particles in composition, are often parted from their verb, as in German; but the same rules can hardly be given in A. S.

In general, þurh, úp, niðer, tó, forð, út, in, on, bi (big) are separable; a-, an-, be-, ge-, ed-, un-, or-, mis-, oð, and-, wið, sam-, for-, to-, are inseparable; æt, of, &c. are rarely separated.

CHAPTER VII.

I.—Syntax.

THE A.S. Syntax in general resembles that of Greek and German; but it bears the closest likeness, with some remarkable points of difference from that and other tongues, to the Latin, with which it should be compared throughout. The concords agreeing in A. S. with those in Latin, &c. need not be repeated. With regard to the construction of sentences it may be observed, that the verb often stands after both the subject and the object, coming last of all, as for the most part in German; as, þa Darius ge-seáh þæt he ofer-wunnen beón wolde, þá wolde he hine sylfne on þám ge-feohte for-spillan, when Darius saw that he should be overcome, then he would lose his life in the fight.

⁽²⁾ See Formation of Particles.

On þære tíde þa Gotan wið Rómana-ríce gewinn úp-a-hófon, at that time the Goths raised up war against the Roman empire.

We sceolon mid biternysse sóðre be-hreowsunge úre mód ge-cláensian, we must with the bitterness of true repentance cleanse our mind.

Often, however, sentences are in this and other respects framed as in English; and on the whole this part of the grammar will not prove difficult to the student, and may be better learned from reading than from any rules that might be given.

II.—Syntax of Nouns.

Nouns of time answering to the question, “how long?” are put in the accusative or ablative; as,

Ealle wucan all the week.

þrý dagas, or prym dagum three days.

Answering to the question “when?” they stand in the ablative, dative with on, or genitive; as,

þý feorðan dógore on the fourth day.

On þissum geare in this year.

Ussa tída⁽¹⁾ in our times.

Measure, value, age, and the like, are used in the genitive; as,

Twegra elna heáh two ells high.

Ynces lang an inch long.

þreora mila brád three miles broad.

Sex peninga wyrðe worth six pence.

A'nes geares lamb a lamb of one year.

The matter to which a measure, &c. is applied, stands in the genitive; as,

Hund mittena hwætes a hundred measures of wheat.

Hund-teontig punda goldes a hundred pounds of gold.

It sometimes remains unchanged; as,

Twegen marc gold⁽²⁾ two marks of gold.

Quality, praise, or blame, stands in the genitive; as,

A'r-wyrðre ylðo of venerable age.

Fægeres and-wlitan of fair countenance.

Two ablatives or datives are used absolutely like the L. double ablative; as,

Ge-togene þý wæpne⁽³⁾ the weapon (being) drawn.

A-fundenum sceápe the sheep (being) found.

Two datives, the latter governed by tó, are used like the L. double dative; as, þæt he ús tó fultume sý⁽⁴⁾ that he may be (for) a help to us.

(¹) Comp. F. de nos temps.

(²) G. zwei mark gold.

(³) L. stricto telo; ove repertâ.

(⁴) L. ut nobis auxilio sit.

The means or instrument stands in the ablative or dative, with or without the preposition mid ; as, þý betstan leóðe ge-glenged adorned with the best lay.

Hine mid þý heofon-lícan weg-nyste ge-trym-mende strengthening himself with that heavenly viaticum.

Heó hí sylfe mid cyne-lícum reáfe ge-frætwoðe she adorned herself with royal attire.

Híg sprecað niwum tungum they shall speak with new tongues.

III.—Syntax of Adjectives.

Adjectives in general, especially those denoting want, desire, knowledge, remembrance, and the like, have a genitive case of the noun which defines them, and often stand after it ; as,

Feos wana wanting money.

Freónda leás lacking friends.

Hrægles þearfa devoid of raiment.

Earn ætes georn an eagle eager for food.

Ac ic heora eom swíðe gifre but I am very greedy of them.

Módes blíðe blithe of mood.

Mægenes strang strong of might.

I'sig feðera icy of wings.

They sometimes take an ablative ; as,

Wintrum geong young in years.

Blind bām eágum blind of both eyes.

Adjectives denoting pleasure, profit, injury, and the like, govern a dative ; as, þeáh he him leóf wære though he were dear to them.

Eallum and-feng acceptable to all.

þæt he mynster-lícum cumum ge-þensum wære that he might be serviceable to the monastic guests.

Nán man nis his ge-líca no man is like him.

The word which determines a comparative stands before it in the ablative neuter ; as, þrym mundum hýrra three hands higher.

(1) Thus L. similes pueris ; ejus similis.

þý weorðra so much the worthier.

Comparatives require either þonne or þe than, with a nominative, or an ablative or genitive without ; as,

Ge synd sélran þonne manega spearwan, or ge synd beteran manigum spearwum ye are better than many sparrows.

Oðer-healf gear læs þe þrittig wintra a year and a half less than thirty years.

Se is his mára he is greater than him.

Superlatives take a genitive ; as,

Ealra wyrta mæst greatest of all herbs.

* * * For the Syntax of Pronouns see Chapter IV.

IV.—Syntax of Verbs.

Verbs, as in other tongues, agree in number with their subject ; after ælc þára (þæra) þe each of them that, every one that, however, the singular is used, agreeing with ælc and not with þára ; as,

Ælc þára þe tó me cymð (lit. each of them that cometh—) every one that cometh to me.

Swá ge-býrað ælcum þára þe winð so it befitteeth every one that contendeth.

With a noun of multitude the verb may be either singular or plural ; as,

Transitive verbs in general, as in other tongues, govern the direct object in the accusative case ; as,

Lufa þínne nextan love thy neighbour.

Axian to ask, takes a double accusative ; as,

Verbs of naming have an accusative of the object named, and a nominative of the name ; as,

Þone un-ge-met líce eargan þú miht hátan hara the immoderately timid thou mayest call hare.

Rædan to rule, a-bregdan to draw (a weapon), and to-bregdan to cast off (sleep), govern the ablative ; as,

Þenden hí þý ríce rædan móston while they might rule the realm.

A'n of þám þý sweorde a-bræd one of them drew his sword.

Mid-þý heó þá þý slæpe to-bræd when she then had cast off sleep.

Verbs of bidding, forbidding, serving, following, obeying, consenting to, opposing, pleasing, trusting, injuring, profiting, escaping from ; likewise for-swerian to forswear, cídán to chide, árian to honour, spare, beorgan to save, defend, déman to judge, oleccan to flatter, *stillan⁽¹⁾ to still, fylstan to succour, efen-læcan to imitate, ge-neá-læcan to approach, and heorcnian to hearken to, govern the dative ; as,

þeáh(-þe) though	þá-hwíle(-þe) ⁽⁶⁾ (the) while

(²) Comp. F. nous n'avons que.

(³) L. væ homini! G. weh dem manne!

CHAPTER IX.

VERSE EXTRACTS.

I.—Narrative Verse.

Anglo-Saxon Poetry is of various kinds, distinguished by rime, by alliteration, or by both; the commonest however only, termed Narrative Verse, will be here described. Its chief characteristic is Alliteration⁽¹⁾, or the correspondence of the first letters of a certain number of the most important words in each line of a couplet, two called sub-letters riming thus together in the first line, and answering to a third called the chief letter in the second. The first line has often but one sub-letter and never more than two; the second never more than one chief letter. The length of the lines varies much, each however must contain at least two emphatic or root syllables, with one or more unemphatic, that is prefixes, terminations, &c.: few lines have less than four syllables, two emphatic, and two unemphatic, and some have as many as eight or nine, or even more. For example⁽¹⁾ :

(¹) Alliteration is found in the Latin poetry of the middle ages, sometimes combined with line and final rime, and syllabic metre; it was used more or less in England along with other kinds of rime till a late period, and is still usual in the Scandinavian tongues. The Vision of Piers Plouhman (1350) is a long and regular specimen of English alliterative poetry, on the above rules. For a full account of the A.S. versification, see Rask's Grammar, pp. 136—68.

Hú lomp ⁽²⁾ eów on lāde ⁽³⁾	How befell it you on your voyage
leófa Beó-wulf,	dear Beówulf,
þá þú færinga feor ge-hogodest sæcce ⁽⁴⁾ sécean ofer sealt wæter, hilde ⁽⁵⁾ tó Heorote ⁽⁶⁾ ?	when thou suddenly far off determinedst warfare to seek over the salt water, battle at Heorot?
Ac þú Hróð-gáre wið cúðne wean ⁽⁷⁾ wihte ge-béttest ⁽⁸⁾ , márum þeódne ⁽⁹⁾ ?	Hast thou then Hróthgár against his known plague ought bootied, the famous prince?

Here the first couplet has in the first line two sub-letters, the l in lomp and lāde, answering to the chief letter, the l in leófa in the second. The third line has but one sub-letter, the f in færinga which rimes with

(¹) Beówulf, ed. Kemble l. 3969—79.

(²) Limpan (III. 1.) to happen.

(³) Lādu (III. 3.) líðan to travel, journey, chiefly by sea.

(⁴) Sæc (II. 3.) hence sack of a town.

(⁵) Hild (II. 3.) battle, war.

(⁶) The palace of Hróthgár prince of a Danish tribe.

(⁷) Wea evil, misfortune.

(⁸) Bétan to profit, improve, do good to; bót (II. 3.) boot, profit.

(⁹) Though quantity and number of syllables seem no essential part of A. S. versification, many lines will bear a more or less regular scanning; thus most short lines consist either of two trochees, like the 2nd, 5th, and 11th above, or of a dactyl and spondee like the 10th: the 3rd, and 6th, also might be called imperfect adonics.

that in feor in the fourth. The third and fourth couplets have each two sub-letters like the first; the fourth again but one, wið being here not emphatic. The last line depends for its alliteration on the first of the next period; the couplet joining two lines by alliteration only, is often thus broken by the sense.

When the chief letter is a vowel or diphthong, the sub-letters must likewise be vowels or diphthongs, but need not be the same; as,

U'tan ymbe æðelne englas stódon.

Eorðan æ'ht-ge-streón, æpplede gold.

Without round the noble
angels stood.

Earth's possessions, appled⁽¹⁾ gold.

In the first example the sub letters ú and æ in the first line answer to the chief letter e in the second; in the other eo, æ', and æ rime together.

When the chief letter is double, the sub letters are usually double likewise; as,

*Frægn from-lice⁽²⁾
fruman and ende.*

*Sceán scír⁽³⁾ werod,
scyldas lixton.*

*He asked prudently
the beginning and end.*

Shone the bright host,
shields gleamed.

The following prefixes and prepositions in composition are not reckoned as part of the alliteration, which

(¹) Hence d-appled, as asphodel (G. affadil) has become d-affodil; dappled-gray is O. apple-gray, G. apfel-grau, D. appel-graauw: comp. F. gris-pommelé.

IV.—Additional Notes.

Page 1.—Æ is not a diphthong, but a modification of a in the other dialects, for which it is substituted in certain cases, as before a mute, or a consonant followed by e; thus dæg, dæge, but plur. dagas, dagum; so also fæt, sæd, &c. : é answering to Goth. é, is not changed.

The A. S. wrote i without a dot, y with one.

þ probably gave rise to the O. abbreviations ye for the (þe), yt for that (þt), &c.

Page 2.—t was also written for oðð|e or, sóðt for sóð-líce truly, verily. Examples of the use of ñ are þā for þám to the &c., þon for þonne then, when.

In later times ȝ occurs for g, originally most likely a guttural, afterwards = y: hence the O. z still retained in some S. names, as Dalzell, Menzies, pronounced Dalyell, Menyies.

A long vowel is sometimes written double without the accent; as, wiid, good, gees, for wíd, gód, gés, like D. wijd &c.; in G. also the vowel is sometimes doubled in like manner. Where A. S. vowels are made long by contraction the dropt consonant sometimes appears, sometimes not in the modern Teutonic dialects; as, (sleahan) sleán, G. schlagen, D. slaan; gangan, gán, G. gehen, D. gaan; hangan, hón, G. and D. hangen. N has been often dropt and the vowel lengthened before other consonants, above all before s, (Note 1.) while it remains in kindred tongues; as, ést (love, favour), Goth. ansts; gós, G. gans, L. ans-er; ós (god, hero) G. ans; sóft, G. sanft; fús (prompt), Goth. funs; ús, Goth. and G. uns, L. nos, &c. This seems the case in Greek too, where ns is in like manner avoided; as, δους, δοῦσα (L. dans), στας, στᾶσα (L. stans), Σιμοεις, and many other words, in some of which the circumflex, as elsewhere, marks the contraction; the ν appears as soon as the σ is removed: neut. δον, σταν; gen. δοντος, σταντος, Σιμοεντος &c. In A. S. í, ý, ó, and ú before ð, often answer to a cognate short vowel followed by nd, nt, or nth, in the other languages; as, líðe, (lithe, soft) G. linde; síð (time) Goth. sinths, Dan. sinde; swíð, Goth. swinths; hrýðer, G. rind, D. rund; ýð, L. unda; óðer, Goth. anthars, G. ander; teóðe (tenth), G. zehnte; cúð, G. kund; gúð (war), Goth. gunths, O. G. kund.

In the imperfects stóð, bróhte, búhte, bóhte, n is likewise dropt, and the vowel made long, g or c in the three last becoming h, as often else; cunnan and unnan also make cúðe, úðe instead of cunde (G. konnte), unde: bohte bought should most likely be short, not being so contracted. Something like these changes now and then appears in L.; as, fundo, fūdi, fūsus; tundo, tūsus, where the vowel in the present is long for prosodical purposes only. On the whole, though the Gr. and L. quantity sometimes agrees with the A. S., and the D. and G. very often, the Gothic is the only sure guide, or failing that, the Icelandic, or other old kindred dialects.

Page 4.—Sometimes too g is added before e, as geów for eów, with little or no change of sound (see p. 41); with a soft vowel before or after it, g seems to have been but lightly sounded, as y, or as a fine guttural.

Page 5.—Other changes are io for eo, and ió for eó; seofon, siofon, heó, hió · u for o, and ú for ó, especially after ge, which sometimes becomes i; geong, (giung) iung; geó, (giú) iú, ió; Iótas, Iútas Jutes: ie for y, gyld, gield payment, tax &c. U occurs mediævally for v in foreign names, as David David; hence also for f, as luuian for lufian to love. Some of these spellings and those p. 5. are the variations of different times, some of different dialects, of which as yet but little is known with certainty.

Page 8.—A. S. d has sometimes become E. th (soft), often G. t; fæder father, G. vater. p and ð usually answer to G. and D. d; þreo, G. drei, D. drie; bróðer, G. bruder, D. broeder; ð sometimes to G. and D. t; forð, G. fort, D. voort. See also p. 2 and addition thereto. The loss of these letters in E. and the substitution of the one unmeaning combination th for both the hard and soft sound is much to be regretted. The A. S. had seemingly no rule but custom for the use of these two letters and sounds, as we for the latter, respectively, but as þ is found oftenest at the beginning, and ð at the end of a syllable, they are here so printed throughout.

Page 8—9.—The following are likewise exceptions to the general rule that the A. S. gender agrees with the German:

Neut. clif	G. klippe (f.)	cliff, rock.
— líc	G. leiche (f.)	corpse.
— sæd	G. saat (f.)	seed.
— sceorp	G. schärpe (f.)	scarf.
— big-spel	G. bei-spiel (m.)	example.
— toll	G. zoll (m.)	toll.
Masc. næs	G. nose (f.)	nose, ness.
— sál	G. seil (n.)	cord.
— tear	G. zähre (f.)	tear.
— an-(ge-)weald	G. ge-walt (f.)	power.
Fem. blæd	G. blatt (n.)	fruit, leaf.
— nyt	G. nutz (m.)	use.

L. has clivus masc. and clivum neut.; nasus is masc.

Page 9.—Swefen dream is fem. II. 3., and neut. III. 1.

Sceó shoe (G. schuh masc.) is masc. II. 2. (plur. sceós), or fem. I. 3. (plur. sceón O. shoon), or III. 3. (plur. (ge-)scý.)

Page 10.—But few certain rules can be given for the genders, especially from the terminations, of which several, as -e, -u, -el, -en, -er, contain nouns of all three. To some of the rules given above the following are exceptions and there may be more: setl seat, and wered host are masc.; -oð and -uð are interchangeable, and when from an adjective, fem.; as, geógoð (-uð) youth, from geong: -ð after a consonant is fem. chiefly when from an adjective, as, strengð from strang; otherwise sometimes neut. as, morð murder, or masc. as monð (mónað) month.

Compounds in -lác are neut., in -ræden feminine.

Nouns of the 1st declension are called Simple from the simplicity of their inflection, having but four endings for the eight cases of the two numbers, and also from the close likeness of the three genders; the 2nd and 3rd declensions are termed Complex, as having in general more case-endings, and wider distinctions of gender. The former kind answer to the Gr. nouns making their dative plural in -σι, and the L. in -bus, the latter to the Gr. which form it in -οις or -αις, and the L. in -is. The terms Weak and Strong for Simple and Complex have greater seeming propriety when applied to other Gothic tongues, Gr. and L. for instance, than to A. S., since in the former case they in general need the help of another syllable to form their inflection, while A. S. needs only -n, and in the latter they have oftener the power of forming their cases without an additional syllable, than the A. S. has. Gr. and L. synonyms sometimes correspond with the A. S. in declension as well as in meaning and etymon; thus, simple: οὐς, aur-is, eár-e; δ-νομ-α, nom-en, nam-a; hom-o, gum-a; complex: ἐργ-ον, weorc; πυργ-ος, burh; via, weg; vir, wer. Some nouns have both forms without a change of meaning; as, heofon, heofone heaven, mann, manna man, þeów, þeówa slave; some with; as, múð month (animate), múða mouth (inanimate), see List III. above; lufa and lufe are sometimes used indifferently, but usually the former stands for love, affection (amor), the latter for love, sake (gratia): Godes lufu love of God; for sumes gódes lufan for the sake of some good.

Page 11.—The neuter is placed first in the declension of nouns, adjectives, and pronouns, as the simplest and purest form of the word, the masculine next as agreeing with it usually in three or four cases out of the five, and the feminine last as generally unlike both. The accusative stands next after the nominative as agreeing with it always in the neut., and sometimes in the masc., while in the fem. it is derived from it; the ablative next as in some words derived from the accus.; and the genitive after the dative as sometimes derived from it, and last of all, as being in neuters and masculines in general most changed from the nominative. This applies more or less to Gr., L., G. &c.: in A. S. it is more apparent in complex than in simple nouns, more still in the indefinite inflection of adjectives, and most of all in demonstrative pronouns. As regards the genders, twá, bá, and þreo are noticeable exceptions.

Page 13.—The plural ending -an (G. -en) became in time -en which in ox-en (ox-an) is yet rightly used; hos-en (hós-a), and P. hous-en (hús), and furz-en (fyr-s-as) are wrong. To brethr-en (bróðr-u), and childr-en (cildr-u) too it has been wrongly added; O. was child-er still in P. use: see p. 18, n. 3. Chick-en (G. küch-en) whence chick is shortened, is no more a plural than maid-en or vix-en; see p. 66.

Proper names in -a whether A. S. or foreign are thus declined; as Gota Goth, Beda, Anna: Europa follows the L. making accus. Europam; dat. and gen. Europe (the medieval form of Europæ): Donua Danube (G. Donau; well called by Milton Donaw), and sometimes Sicilia and the like are not declined. There are no A. S. fem. names in -a; all nouns in -a being masc., those now so written end either in a consonant or in -u, (II. 3. or III. 3.); as, Mæð-hild, Eád-gifu, since latinised to Mathilda, Edgiva. Other foreign names sometimes take the L. cases except the vocative; as, He ge-seáh Simonem he saw Simon. Fram Decapoli from Decapolis, Iacobus Zebedei James (son) of Zebedee. Lazarus gá út! Lazarus come forth! Masculines ending in a consonant often follow II. 2., as, Salomon, Salomones, Salomone, Petrus, Petre, and the like.

The now anomalous genitives in -ens of some G. simple nouns, as herz-ens, nam-ens, will-ens, lieb-ens (-würdig), are derived from the Goth. gen., hairt-ins, nam-ins (L. nom-inis) wilj-ins &c. A. S. heort-an, nam-an, will-an, luf-an. Glaub-ens is the only gen. of this kind which had a nom. in -en, glauben, (complex) Goth. ga-láubeins, A. S. (simple) ge-leáfa. Herz-e (Goth. hairto, A. S. heorte) is still in P. and poetical use: other G. simple nouns, as heri (A. S. hearra) have lost the final vowel. Feminines have in general lost the oblique -n in the singular, except in some phrases, as auf erden (on earth), vor freuden (for joy) &c. Many feminines and a few masculines properly complex now form the plural in -n, and in general the two orders have come to be much mixed.

Page 15.—Nouns in -e (II. 2.) sometimes keep the e in the plural; as, end-eas, end-eum &c.

Freónd and feónd being originally participials, derived, the former from freógan (G. freien) to court, honour, the latter from a lost verb akin to fáh hostile (whence foe), properly made the nom. and accus. sing. and plur. alike, but in time came to be inflected as II. 2.

It is only in monosyllables before one consonant that æ is changed to a; otherwise not; as, wæstm, pl. wæstmas (fruit) æcer, pl. æceras, æcras: thus too in adjectives; smæl, þæt smale, smalor, but fæst, þæt fæste, fæstor and the like.

Feld and ford originally belonged to III. 2; feld-u, ford-u like sun-u

Page 17.—Hand belongs to a lost class of complex feminines in -u hand-u.

Page 20.—Wædla poor hitherto called an adjective having the definite inflection only, seems rather a noun (I. 2.) a beggar; wædlian to beg: þearfa poor is commonly if not always used as a noun—a poor man wana wanting seems indeclinable.

Page 24.—The comparative and superlative endings -or, -ost (-oste), and -er, -est (-este) are sometimes used indifferently, but it would seem that the former oftener follow a, o, and u, the latter e, i, or y. see addit. note on p. 42

Page 25.—Several of these adjectives form adverbs regularly in -e and -lice (p. 70.) as lang-e, lang-lice, strang-e, strang-lice, hræd-lice, heág-e, heá-lice, eáð-e, eáðe-lice, sceort-lice, sóft-e, yfel-e, lytl-e.

Page 26.—Lesser for less is as wrong as least-est for least would be, or as wors-er for worse is. Lest is (þý-)læs(-þe), t being added as in against &c. The ending -mest has no connexion with mæst most, though it also has become -most: our upper-most, after-most &c. have arisen from the wrong notion that most was added to the comparative.

Page 27.—Ye is therefore the true nom., you the accus. &c. "If any man say ought to you, ye shall say."

Page 29.—Mine and thine are therefore the older forms, from which my and thy are shortened; the former were long retained before vowels.

Page 30.—Þissere and þissera are older forms than þisse and þissa.

Page 32.—The á- in á-wiht &c. must not be confounded with the common prefix a- for on-, an- (p. 73); á is ever, aye, ἀει, Goth. áiw-, G. je, whence áiwn, Goth. áiws, L. ævum, age, eternity. A'- or æg- (p. 65) gives a general sense like G. je, in je-mand some one; á-hwær some-, any-, every-where, á-hwænnē some time, any time, P. some-when, any-when: with the negative it becomes ná never, no; ná-hwider no-whither: ná-wiht is more regular than nán-wiht. A'wðer and áðer (if true readings) are contractions of á-hwæðer, and = ægðer, æg-hwæðer: náwðer is ná-hwæðer = L. ne-uter; hence rightly comes O. and P. nother · neither has arisen from either.

Page 33.—Our one and a are both descended from án; in an before a vowel the n has been restored; most languages use the same word in both senses; in A. S. sum is commoner for the article than án.

Page 37.—Verbs of the first conjugation are called Simple from the simplicity of their inflection, and its likeness in the three classes, or Weak as needing the help of another syllable to form their imperfect; those of the second and third are termed Complex from the various changes of vowel &c. they undergo, and the greater diversity of their classes, or Strong, as having in themselves the power of forming their imperfect. The analogy of the A. S. simple with the Gr. contracted verbs, and the L. 1st, 2nd, and 4th conjugations, and of the A. S. complex with the Gr. regulars, and L. 3rd conj. is worthy of attention. Some of the Gr. and L. synonyms agree in conjugation, as well as in meaning and etymology with the A. S.; as, simple: ceall-ian, καλ-εῖν, cal-are to call; tem-ian, δαμ-αῖν, dom-are to tame; lix-an, L. luc-ere to shine: complex; graf-an, γραφ-εῖν; to (en-)grave, write; brec-an, ῥηγ-εῖν, frang-ere, to break; ter-an, τερ-εῖν, ter-ere to tear &c.; flów-an, flu-ere to flow; drag-an, trah-ere to draw, drag. Simple verbs are now in E. and G. usually called regular, complex irregular; in both many complex verbs have in course of time become simple, and this change is still going on. Thus bake, sleep, leap, sweep, weep, fare, wield, fold, step, starve, creep, reek, lye wreak, dive, shove, row, flow, swallow, brook &c. from A. S. complex forms have become simple: others are in a fair way to do so, retaining only a complex imperf. or part. past, some of which are either gone or going out of use; as; hung, hove, stood, shove, clomb, glode, bet, shod; waxen, hewn, laden, graven, shapen, washen, strewn, holpen, bursten, foughten, swollen &c.

G. walten (to rule), wallen (to boil), sähen (to sow), krähen (to crow), kauen (to chew), wachen (to watch), wathen (to wade), reuen (to rue), lachen (to laugh), as also most of the E. synonyms, have become simple; others, as backen (to bake), hauen (to hew), sieden (to seethe) &c. are in the transition state. A few E. verbs from A. S. I. 2., and I. 3. have assumed imperfects (but not participles past) of a seeming complex form; as, meet, met; lead, led; send, sent; build, built; from métan, láedan, sendan, byldan. A very few A. S. verbs have both forms without change of meaning; as, bringan; bringe, bróhte, bróht, or bringe, brang, brungen; the latter however is rare.

Page 38.—Attention should be paid to the quantity of the complex or strong imperfects, both as compared with that of the present, and as to whether it is long throughout, or short throughout, or short in the first and third persons singular, and long in the 2nd, and the whole plural, or long in the first and third pers., and short in the rest. Thus II. 2. from presents some short, some long, and II. 3. from presents all short, make it long throughout, except some doubtful in the former; as, healde; heóld, heólde &c. drage; dróh &c. III. 1. has the present short, and the imperf. short throughout with a change of vowel; binde; band, bunde; band, bundon. II. 1. short in the pres. has the imperf. short and long; brece; bræc, bráæce, bræc, brácon; except the f. winea; as, geaf, geafe &c., together with com, come &c., and nam, name &c. which are short throughout. III. 2. and III. 3. with long pres. have the imperf. long and short with a change of vowel; drífe; dráf, drife, dráf, drifon; clúfe; cleáf, clufe, cleáf, clufon. Complex participles past are all short but some of II 2.

like I. 2.; as, fyligan to follow, imper. fyligde, imper. fylig, but part. past fyligd: see p. 42.

Page 42.—There seem to have been originally two distinct classes of verbs in -ian, both now included in I. 1., the one forming its imperf. and part. past in -óde, -ód, the other in -ede, -ed; the former answering closely to the Gr. contracted verbs, and the L. in -āvi, -ātus, ēvi, ēt-us, and -īvi, īt-us, the latter to the L. in -ui, īt-us &c. In time -óde, ód were shortened, and then came to be confounded with -ede, -ed, many verbs being found with both forms; -ode, -od however seems to occur oftenest when the root-vowel is a, o, or u, -ede, ed when it is e, i, or y; see addit. note on p. 25: -ade, -ad is a modification of -ode, -od. The -de, -ed (-d) of I. 2. 3. is contracted from -ede, -ed, I. 1.; when the d is thus brought next a hard consonant it becomes t.

The characteristic e is not changed if l, n, or s stand before it; as, elce (delay) imperf. elcte; drence (drench) drencte; wisce (wish) wiscte; unless the n be dropt, as in þince, þúhte, and the like: it else commonly (in simple verbs) becomes h, as in táce, p. 42, &c.

Page 43.—The original form of the 2nd and 3rd persons sing. of I. 2, 3, II. and III. was hýrest, hýreð, tellest, telleð, brecest, breceð, healdest, healdeð, dragest, drageð, bindest, bindeð, drífest, drífeð, clúfest, clúfeð and the like, which often occur, especially in poetry: the shortened and modified forms hýrst, hýrð, telst, briest &c. given in the grammar are more modern, and commonest in prose.

Page 44.—All verbs seem at first to have formed their 1st pers. pres. in -o or -u; comp. -ow and L. -o: haf-o = L. hab-eo.

Page 50.—Most of the verbs in II. 2., and some in II. 3. are derived from the Goth. reduplicative verbs, which repeat the long syllable; the A. S. has kept only what may be called the literal augment, and that in but a few verbs; as, héht, leólc, reórd, from hátan, lácan (to play, deceive), rædan (G. reden to discourse), where the Goth.

has hái-háit, lái-láik, rái-ród from háitan &c. Some only alter the vowel, as sceape, sceóp, where the Goth. has sái-skáp.

Page 54.—Verbs in -án form their part. pres. in -ánde; sleán, sleánde.

Page 58.—Wríðan is an exception to the general rule that complex verbs change ð into d in the 2nd pers. sing., and in the plural of the imperf., and in the past part.: see cweðan p. 50, weorðan p. 57, and seóðan p. 60, which are all regular.

Page 62.—Complex participles past sometimes agree like adjectives with a noun, sometimes do not; as, Ða þing þe him ge-sende wæron the things that were sent him. Seó óðre naman wæs Tate háten who by another name was hight Tate.

The part. past in the pluperfect is sometimes governed in the accus. by the auxiliary hæbban, as, Ðá híg hæfdon hyra lof-sang ge-sungenne when they had sung their song of praise.

Page 63.—Un- sometimes, as in G., is not merely negative, but implies badness; un-þeáw bad habit, un-weder (G. un-ge-witter) storm, bad weather.

The prefix to- must be carefully distinguished from the preposition tó in composition; as, to-gán to go asunder, separate, tó-gán to go to; G. zer-gehen, zu-gehen: to- implies division, dispersion of parts, and hence often destruction.

Page 64.—For- gives in general a negative or bad sense, or is intensive, much like kara-; déman to judge, for-déman to condemn, κρινειν, κατα-κρινειν, G. ur-theilen, ver-urtheilen; bernan to burn, for-bernan to burn up, consume, καειν, κατα-καειν, G. brennen, ver-brennen; dón to do, make, for-dón to un-do, ruin, destroy; scyppan to form, for-scyppan to transform, de-form; for-fela very many. This prefix must not be confounded with the prepositions for and fore; (probably of the same origin, = L. pro); thus for-seón is to over-look, de-spise, G. ver-sehen; for-seón, fore-seón to fore-see, G. vor-sehen; for-gán to for-go, do without, perish, G. ver-gehen, L. per-ire; fore-gán to fore-go, go before, G. vor-gehen, L. præ-ire. It is as wrong to write fore-go for for-go, as fore-give for for-give.

And- answers closely to ἀντι, denoting opposition, reciprocity &c.; and-saca denier; and-wyrdan, and-swarian, ἀντ-ερειν to answer; and-wlitan, ἀντι βλέπειν, to gaze at, look in the face.

The prefix ge- is in A. S. used oftener and more indiscriminately than in any kindred language old or new. Though originally conveying no notion of past time, it seems gradually to have acquired it, and to have become a kind of syllabic augment to imperfects, but especially to participles past, as in Dutch and German. In the formation of English it was by degrees dropt before all but participles past, where it first became i- or y-, and has since been lost altogether, surviving only as a- in some P. words. In G. and D. it is still in use before nouns, adjectives &c., but in general with a distinct effect on their meaning, referible to its original collective force. A. S. ge- sometimes denotes the result of doing a thing; as, Ge-slóh þín fæder fáehða máste thy father by striking avenged the greatest of feuds. His feorh ge-faran oððe ge-irnan to save his life by going or running (to a sanctuary).

Page 65.—The prefix or- (left out in the right place) denotes want of a thing; as, or-mæte im-mense, measure-less, or-trúwian to de-spair, or-sorh care-less, se-secure: it must not be confounded with or- in or-eald very old, (G. ur-alt), from or, ord beginning, point, connected with L. or-ior, or-igo &c.

The ending -el, -ol, answers sometimes to L. -ul-um; gyrd-el, L. cing-ulum, girdle.

The primary meaning of -ing is young, and hence it forms patronymics, and terms of contempt &c.: -ling has been supposed to be derived from -ing.

Page 66.—Other feminines in -en are menn-en from man. G. mann, männin; gyd-en from god, G. gott, gött-in, D. god, god-in: in -e; fyl-e, filly, from fol-a foal; wal-e from wealh or wal-a, Celt, stranger; webb-e (or webb-estre web-ster), from webb-a weaver.

The ending -estre (like D. -ster) is feminine only, and the notion of thus forming nouns of contempt &c., as pun-ster, trick-ster, road-ster is modern.

The ending dóm is properly a noun (II. 2.) doom, judgment, authority, dignity: hád is also a noun (II. 2.) state, condition, rank, Holy Orders.

Page 67.—-scipe (not occurring alone) is related to scapan, (sceapan), to shape, form, create, and denotes form, mode, condition; land-scape, or land-ship, (land-scipe) G. land-schaft, D. land-schap, should in rule be land-ship, unless borrowed, like a few other words, directly from the Dutch.

The adjective ending -ig answers to κ-ος, L. -ic-us.

Page 68.—A. S. -isc had often a bad sense, which E., G., and D. -ish, -isch, -sch almost always have, except when added to local names; the three former often contrast with -lic, -like or -ly, G. -lich, which convey a good or indifferent notion; as, folc-isc vulgar (Chaucer has pepl-ish), folc-lic popular; cild-isc child-ish, G. kind-isch, cild-lic child-like, G. kind-lich; compare also mann-ish, man-like, man-ly, G. männ-isch, männ-lich; woman-ish, woman-ly, G. weib-isch, weib-lich; girl-ish, maiden-ly &c.

While -ol (-ul) answers in form to L. -ul-us, in sense it is more like -ax, commonly denoting a wrong propensity; as, sprec-ol, cwid-ol, L. loqu-ax, dic-ax talkative, evil-tongued; et-ol, L. ed-ax greedy. Sometimes as in sóð-sag-ol truth-telling, deóp-þanc-ol deep-thinking, it expresses a good quality.

-en (G. -ern, -en) usually denotes the material of which a thing is made; as, stán-en of stone, G. stein-ern; treów-en treen, wood-en; gyld-en gold-en, G. gold-en; lin-en lin-en, of lin or flax, G. lein-en; from stán, treów, gold, lin. Several words thus formed are now obsolete; ston-en, brick-en &c. are still in P. use.

-cund answers to L. -cund-us.

Some adjectives are formed in -ed or -d like simple participles past; as, ge-hyrned horn-ed, (G. ge-hörn-t); ge-sceód shod (G. ge-schuh-t); the rest of the verb, if any, is here wanting.

Page 69.—c-, -n-, -s-, in these and the like verbs represent lost syllables; therefore swin-s-ian (to make melody) is no exception to the rule against ns in the same syllable; see p. 2. n. 1.

The verbal endings -ian and -an (-ειν, G. and D. -an) became in time -en and -e, the latter of which has in many cases been dropt, in all has lost its sound. Such verbs as whit-en, black-en are of modern use, to white and the like being the older form.

Page 71.—Other adverbs in common use are: á aye, always, æfre (G. and D. immer) ever, næfre (G. and D. nimmer) never, ædre straightway, recene instantly, eft-sona eft-soon, forth-with, endemes at length, þær-rihte (forð-rihte) forthwith, elles else, otherwise, elles-hwider else-whither, ellor elsewhere, þus (D. dus) thus, georne (G. gerne) earnestly, willingly, þearle very, exceedingly, geara well, accurately, (lyt-)hwon a little (S. a wheen), hugu (hwegu), hwæt-(hwylc)-hugu &c. somewhat, a little, þances gratis, ágnes þances of one's own accord, his &c. willan, unwillan with, against his &c. will, semninga suddenly, hrædinga quickly, áninga (æninga) alone, only, on bæc-ling backward. Sona is construed with a genitive; as, Sona þæs soon after that. Sona þæs wintres early in the winter.

Page 72.—It seems likely that the first part of the word Oxena-ford is not from oxa ox, but from the Celtic root meaning water, river, (A. S. wos is ooze, liquid) which appears in Ouse (many) Isis, Ex, Ax, Usk, Esk, Oise, Aisne, Yssel, Oxus, and so many other names of rivers; and this is confirmed by Ousn-ey in the neighbourhood. Ford of oxen is however the strict meaning of the A. S. name, and doubtless the one then attached to it; Βορ-πορος, Schwein-furt, Swin-ford and the like supply fair analogies.

Ofer- sometimes conveys the same idea as for-; ofer-gitan (= for-gitan) to forget. ofer-hycgan = for-hycgan to despise.

Of- beside its intensive force (p. 105. n. 2.) sometimes has a bad one; as, me þincð me thinks, me of-þincð it repenteth me, I take it ill.

Page 73.—Our prefix a- has in general sprung from the A. S. on- (an-, a-), and on is still sometimes used for it; as, a-float, A. S. on-flote; a-live, A. S. on-life (G. am leben); a-two (in-two), A. S. on-twá; a-feared, A. S. a-fered; O. on flote, on life, on two, also on sleep, on row &c. now a-sleep &c.; we yet say on board, or a-board, on fire, or a-fire and the like: see also p. 69—71, 73.

In some words a- is from A. S. of-; as, of-dúne (a-dúne, a-dún) a-down, down (= G. berg-ab); of-þyrst a-thirst; we say too of kin or a-kin; it is therefore not unlikely that in other cases A. S. a- may, as the sense would imply, have sprung from of-; thus a-faran to depart, a-wendan to turn away, a-weorpan to cast off, answer to G. ab-fahren, and G. and D. ab-wenden, af-wenden, ab-werfen, af-werpen: so ἀπο, ἀπ' became L. ab, and that in time a. Once or twice E. a- is from A. S. ge-; as ge-líc (O. y-like), a-like; ge-mang (O. e-mong), a-mong.

Page 77.—Adjectives also take an abl. or dat. of the cause &c., which commonly stands first; as, Iú-dædum fáh stained with (my) former deeds. Wundum wérig weary with wounds.

Likewise of the person &c. by whom the action implied is done; as, His freóndum or-wéne despaired of by his friends. Wurð-full þám cyningum to be honoured by kings. Un-a-secgend-líc énigum unspeakable by any.

Adjectives in general govern the object to which they have relation in the dative; as, Ic eom ge-trýwe mínor hláf-orde I am true to my lord. He wæs me yrre he was angry with me. Dryhten wæs þám folce gram (the) Lord was wroth with the people.

Adjectives denoting nearness also govern the dative; as, A'n biscop þe him þá hendest wæs a bishop that was then nearest (handiest) to him.

Some adverbs take the same case as the adjectives whence they are formed: Nánig him ge-líce þæt dón meahste none could do that like him.

Page 79.—The following verbs also govern the dative of the far object: secgan to say, tell, bodian to preach, announce, beóðan to offer, and-wyrdan, and-swarian to answer, gifan to give, for-gifan to give away, forgive, syllan to give, sell (of which examples need not be given), wið-metan to compare, measure with, ge-an-lícian to liken, make like; yrsian to be angry with, æt-filhan to approach, apply to, wísian (wissian) to guide, direct, fore-wesan (L. præ-esse) to govern, be over, besárgian to pity, be sorry for, have a dative of the near object; losian to be lost, escape from, one of the person affected; as, Hire fær is wið-meten fyrd-lícum truman her going is compared to an army on the march. Ic eom yslum and axum ge-an-lícod I am made like cinders and ashes. Se þe yrsað his bréðer he that is angry with his brother. Nó ic him þæs georne æt-fealh I did not therefore willingly approach him. Þæt híg minton þám folce wel wissian that they might guide the people well. Mid-þý heó þá feala geara þissum mynstre fore-wæs when she then many years had ruled this convent. Þá besárgode he þære sorh-fullan méder then pitied he the sorrowful mother. Him losade án seeáp he had lost one sheep.

Some of the verbs having a dative &c. of the object to which the action is directed, govern the thing done in the accusative; as, Démað rihtne dóm judge right judgment.

Page 81.—The following verbs are sometimes used in the usual reflective way with the pronoun in the accusative: ge-biddan to pray, warnian to be ware, belgan to be angry, ge-wraðian to be wroth; as, Þonne þú þe ge-bidde when thou prayest. Warniað eów fram mannum be ware of men. Warniað wið þa bóceras be ware of the scribes. Þá bealh he hine then was he angry. Ge belgað wið me ye are angry with me. Þá ge-wraðede hine se arce-biscop Landfranc then was the archbishop Lanfranc wroth.

Likewise some compounds of seón; as, Hine &c. for-seón (G. sich ver-sehen) to err, commit an oversight, sin. Gif he hine under-bæc besáwe if he should look back.

Page 81—3.—Wealdan, on-fón, éhtan, bídan, and earnian sometimes govern the accusative.

Page 83.—On-þracian to dread, feel horror at governs the genitive like on-drædan; as, An-þraciende þæs un-ge-limpes feeling horror at the misfortune.

Page 87.—Be and tó sometimes govern the ablative; as, Be þý mæg ælc mon wítan by that may each man know. Tó-þý-þæt (= tó-þón-þæt) in order that. Tó-hwý why?

As æt is sometimes to, so is tó sometimes at; the two are now and then confounded in E., and G. zu stands for both. Tó and æt (the latter in composition often) sometimes mean from, the former especially with wilnian and sécan; as, Ealle tó þe ætes wilniað all from thee desire food. Manna ge-hwylc se-þe séceð tó him every man that seeketh from him. He þæt ful ge-þeah æt Wealh-þeón he took the cup from (at the hand of) Wealh-theó.

Tó meaning motion to, has sometimes, though seldom, an accusative: He fór tó Samariam þæt land he went to the land of Samaria.

Page 88.—Tó-emnes (a rare word) rather by, along-side, over-against than along, is from efen (efn, emn) even, equal; on-efn (-emn) is the same; Him on-efn ligeð ealdor-ge-winna by him lieth (his) deadly foe. Emn-, em- are common in composition; emn-lang (G. eben (so) lang) of the same length; em-leóf (G. eben (so) lieb) equally dear; em-þeów fellow-slave.

Page 90.—Innon, úton, and úppon should not be divided, -on (-an) being here only an ending and not the preposition on, serving in the two last to change the adverb into a preposition.

Page 93.—Þenden while sometimes has a subjunctive; as, Þenden hit hát sý while it be hot.

Page 95.—For-standan (or fore-standan) to defend, stand before, likewise for-standan (G. ver-stehen) to understand govern the accusative; as, Hine God for-stód him God defended.

Page 96.—Other conjunctions are swá-same-swá the same as—, in like manner as—, ná-læs þæt án ac— not (that) only but—, nates-hwón by no means, nóht-þón-læs never-(nought)-theless, gea yea, ná nay, gese yes, nese no, næs (nas) not, huru moreover, chiefly, huru-þinga at least, þæs-þe since, after that, because, for-hwón, tó-hwón (= for-hwý) hwy, þæs(-for) for that, therefore, gen, gena yet.

Comp. οὐκ ἔχομεν εἰ μὴ—we have (not) but—, one only of the many instances of likeness between the Gr. and A. S. syntax.

Weorðe too may be either expressed or understood; as, Wá (weorðe) þám men! wo worth the man!

Page 97.—Lo! has no more to do with look than O. gif has with gifan: our vulgar law! and lawk! may also be derived from lá!

Page 98.—Which Latin translation the A. S. versions of the Holy Scripture are taken from is hard to say; this only is certain that the A. S. Gospels follow the Vulgate more closely than the Heptateuch does. The Latin MSS. doubtless varied much, and the A. S. is now and then seemingly not an accurate rendering of any one. Ælfric was a common name; among those who bore it, were an Archbishop of Canterbury, and one of York, of whom the latter is believed to have translated the parts of the O. Testament known as the Heptateuch.

Page 133.—Teóhhian (from teóh, p. 152. n. 3.) means also to furnish, provide, fit out, and perhaps should be so rendered in the extract from Boëthius, where its meaning is not very clear.

Page 140.—Tó- in tó-geanes sometimes does not rime (see p. 158, last line) though seemingly always in other combinations: to- on the other hand never rimes.

Vol. 1. containing 480 pages, closely printed in double columns, £1. 1s

"This promises to be a most useful work. Mr. Halliwell is, we must acknowledge, as well qualified, by industry, ability, and previous study, to be the editor, as any man living. We could indeed easily name a dozen persons, each of whom would be better qualified for particular departments, but not one who, including the whole range embraced by the title, would have the ability and energy to go through all the drudging duties of the office more satisfactorily. It is a work, however, that, in the first instance, must be imperfect. We hold, therefore, that every English scholar should have an interleaved copy, that he may contribute a something towards improving a second edition. The first number appears to have been carefully compiled; but we are not inclined to seek very curiously for faults in a work of such obvious difficulty, when, even if it be imperfect, it cannot fail to be useful."

- “The interest which the curious poem of which this publication is chiefly composed has excited, is proved by the fact of its having been translated into German, and of its having reached a second edition, which is not common with such publications. Mr. Halliwell has carefully revised the new edition, and increased its utility by the addition of a complete and correct glossary.”—Literary Gazette.
- 24 TORRENT OF PORTUGAL, an English Metrical Romance, now first published, from an unique MS. of the XVth century, preserved in the Chetham Library at Manchester, edited by J. O. HALLIWELL, &c. post 8vo. cloth, uniform with Ritson, Weber, and Ellis's publications, 5s
- “This is a valuable and interesting addition to our list of early English metrical romances, and an indispensable companion to the collections of Ritson, Weber, and Ellis.”—Literary Gazette.
- “A literary curiosity, and one both welcome and serviceable to the lover of black-letter lore. Though the obsoleteness of the style may occasion sad stumbling to a modern reader, yet the class to which it rightly belongs will value it accordingly; both because it is curious in its details, and possesses philological importance. To the general reader it presents one feature of interest, viz. the reference to Wayland Smith, whom Sir W. Scott has invested with so much interest.”
Metropolitan Magazine.

- 29 ROMANCE of Syr Tryamour, from a MS. at Cambridge, edited by J. O. HALLIWELL, post 8vo. 2s 6d
(Percy Society.)

- "Illustrations! And here they are; clever pictures, which the three-year olds understand before their A, B, C, and which the fifty-three year olds like almost as well as the threes."—Literary Gazette.
- "We are persuaded that the very rudest of these jingles, tales, and rhymes, possess a strong imagination-nourishing power; and that in infancy and early childhood a sprinkling of ancient nursery lore is worth whole cartloads of the wise saws and modern instances which are now as duly and carefully concocted by experienced literateurs, into instructive tales for the spelling public, as are works of entertainment for the reading public. The work is worthy of the attention of the popular antiquary."—Tait's Mag.
- The public are cautioned against other works with imitative titles, which have been published since the second edition of the above, and which are mostly pirated from it. Mr. Halliwell's is the largest collection of these old ditties ever formed, with explanatory notes, &c. &c.
- 32 AN ESSAY on the Archæology of our Popular Phrases and Nursery Rhymes, by H. B. KER, 2 vols. 12mo. new, cloth, 4s (pub. at 12s)
- A work which has met with great abuse among the reviewers, but those who are fond of philological pursuits will read it now it is to be had at so very moderate a price, and it really contains a good deal of gossiping matter. The author's attempt is to explain everything from the Dutch, which he believes was the same language as the Anglo-Saxon.
- 33 POEMS of John Audelay, a Specimen of the Shropshire Dialect in the XVth Century, edited by J. O. HALLIWELL, post 8vo. 3s 6d (Percy Soc.)

- 92 SAINT PATRICK'S PURGATORY; an Essay on the Legends of Purgatory, Hell, and Paradise, current during the Middle Ages, by THOMAS WRIGHT, M.A., F.S.A., &c., post 8vo. cloth, 6s

"It must be observed, that this is not a mere account of St. Patrick's Purgatory, but a complete history of the legends and superstitions relating to the subject, from the earliest times, rescued from old MSS. as well as from old printed books. Moreover, it embraces a singular chapter of literary history, omitted by Warton and all former writers with whom we are acquainted; and we think we may add, that it forms the best introduction to Dante that has yet been published."

Literary Gazette.

"This appears to be a curious and even amusing book on the singular subject of Purgatory, in which the idle and fearful dreams of superstition are shown to be first narrated as tales, and then applied as means of deducing the moral character of the age in which they prevailed."—Spectator.

This tract is exceedingly curious, as forming one of the links between the wit of the middle ages and that of modern times. There is scarcely one of the "merry tales" contained in it which has not its counterpart among the numerous Latin stories of the monks, which were popular in the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries.

This dialogue was thought to merit reprinting, both as being an excellent specimen of the colloquial language of the Reign of Elizabeth, and for the good sense with which the writer treats a subject on which so many people ran mad, and the curious allusions which it contains to the superstitions of the age.

G. JONES, 12mo. cloth, 2s 6d (pub. at 6s 6d)
"The general scarcity of elementary works on History, and more especially of such as refer to the Middle Ages, might, in itself, be a sufficient apology for the appearance of the following translation; but when it is further considered that the original text has passed through several editions, and that its reputation is established in a country confessedly eminent in historical literature, it is believed that the work, in its present form, cannot but prove a desideratum to the English student."

to be found in ordinary dictionaries and books of reference, by J. O. HALLIWELL, F.R.S., &c. 8vo. Vol. I. containing 480 pages, closely printed in double columns, cloth, £1. 1s (To be completed in 2 vols.)

"It forms a most comprehensive glossary to all our old English writers, from the beginning of the fourteenth century to the time of the Stuarts, including the earlier chroniclers, the writings of Wycliffe, and a long range of poets, from Piers Ploughman, Chaucer, Gower, Lydgate, &c. to Spenser and his contemporaries, with Shakespeare and the dramatists of that age. Most of the words of the Dictionary are illustrated by examples, selected not only from printed authorities, but from the numerous early English MSS. scattered through public and private libraries, and these are extremely numerous and valuable. In addition to the obsolete portion of our language, this work may be said to be a complete dictionary of the local dialects of the present day, and is one which will be an acceptable addition to every library."

- 138 THE VOCABULARY of East Anglia, an attempt to record the vulgar tongue of the twin sister Counties, Norfolk and Suffolk, as it existed in the last twenty years of the Eighteenth Century, and still exists; with proof of its antiquity from Etymology and Authority, by the Rev. R. FORBY, 2 vols. post 8vo. cloth, 12s (original price £1. 1s)

- 139 WESTMORLAND AND CUMBERLAND DIALECTS. Dialogues, Poems, Songs, and Ballads, by various Writers, in the Westmorland and Cumberland Dialects, now first collected, to which is added, a Copious Glossary of Words peculiar to those Counties, post 8vo. pp. 408, cloth, 9s

This collection comprises, in the Westmorland Dialect, Mrs. ANN WHEELER'S Four Familiar Dialogues, with Poems, &c.; and in the Cumberland Dialect, I. Poems and Pastorals by Rev. JOSIAH RELPH; II. Pastorals, &c., by EWAN CLARK; III. Letter from Dublin by a young Borrowdale Shepherd, by ISAAC RITSON; IV. Poems by JOHN STAGG; V. Poems by MARK LONSDALE; VI. Ballads and Songs by ROBERT ANDERSON, the Cumbrian Bard (including some now first printed); VII. Songs by Miss BLAMIRE and Miss GILPIN; VIII. Songs by JOHN RAYSON; IX. An extensive Glossary of Westmorland and Cumberland Words.

"Among the specimens of Cumberland Verse will be found some true poetry, if not the best ever written in the language of rural life this side the Scotch Borders. The writers seem to have caught in their happiest hours inspiration from the rapt soul of Burns. Anderson's touching song of wedded love, 'The Days that are geane,' is a worthy answer for a husband to Burns' 'John Anderson my Jo.'"

Gent.'s Mag.

"No other two counties in England have so many pieces, both in prose and verse, illustrative of the manners and customs of the inhabitants, and written in their own native dialect. The philologist will find numerous examples of words and phrases which are obsolete in the general language of England, or which have been peculiar to Westmorland and Cumberland from time immemorial. Nor are the pieces uninteresting in other respects. Some of the patois verses are rich in the true spirit and vigour of poetry."—Metropolitan.

"A charming volume: it contains some beautiful poetical effusions, as well as characteristic sketches in prose."—Archæologist.

- 140 THE YORKSHIRE DIALECT, exemplified in various Dialogues, Tales and Songs, applicable to the County, with a Glossary, post 8vo. 1s

"A shilling book worth its money; most of the pieces of composition are not only harmless, but good and pretty. The eclogue on the death of 'Awd Daisy,' an outworn horse, is an outpouring of some of the best feelings of the rustic mind; and the addresses to riches and poverty have much of the freedom and spirit of Burns."

Gent.'s Magazine, May, 1841.

- 141 THE BAIRNSLA FOAK'S ANNUAL, an onny body els as beside for't years 1840 and 1843, be TOM TREDDLE-HOYLE; to which is added the Barnsley and Village Record, or the Book of Facts and Fancies, by NED NUT, 12mo. pp. 100, 1s

This almanac is written in the Barnsley Dialect, and therefore fits itself with peculiar emphasis to the understanding of all in that particular locality. Its influence, however, extends beyond this; for even those acquainted with the Barnsley peculiarities of speech, will find much amusement in perusing the witticisms of the author, through his curious mode of expression.

HERALDRY AND GENEALOGY.

- 142 THE CURIOSITIES of Heraldry, with Illustrations from Old English Writers, by MARK ANTONY LOWER, Author of "Essays on English Surnames;" with illuminated Title-page, and numerous Engravings from designs by the Author, 8vo. cloth, GULES, appropriately ornamented OR, 14s

"The present volume is truly a worthy sequel (to the 'SURNAMEs') in the same curious and antiquarian line, blending with remarkable facts and intelligence, such a fund of amusing anecdote and illustration, that the reader is almost surprised to find that he has learnt so much, whilst he appeared to be pursuing mere entertainment. The text is so pleasing that we scarcely dream of its sterling value; and it seems as if, in unison with the woodcuts, which so cleverly explain its points and adorn its various topics, the whole design were intended for a relaxation from study, rather than an ample exposition of an extraordinary and universal custom, which produced the most important effect upon the minds and habits of mankind."—Literary Gazette.

- 143 ENGLISH SURNAMES. A Series of Essays on Family Nomenclature, Historical, Etymological, and Humorous; with Chapters on Canting Arms, Rebuses, the Roll of Battel Abbey, a List of Latinized Surnames, &c., by MARK ANTONY LOWER, second edition, enlarged, post 8vo. pp. 292, with 20 woodcuts, cloth, 6s

To those who are curious about their patronymic, it will be found a very instructive and amusing volume—mingling wit and pleasantry, with antiquarian research and historical interest.

"An instructive and amusing volume, which ought to be popular. Perhaps no subject is more curious than the history of proper names. How few persons are there who have not on one occasion or other been struck with the singular names which have fallen under their own observation, and who have not sought for the information as to their origin? Yet we know of no work of any value, much more a popular work, which treats on the subject. Mr. Lower has written a very good and well-arranged book, which we can with confidence recommend to our readers."—Archæologist.

- 144 APPLICATION of Heraldry to the illustration of various University and Collegiate Antiquities, by H. A. WOODHAM, Esq. 4to. Part I, coloured plate, and 30 cuts of arms, 6s—Part II, coloured plate, and 2 woodcuts, 3s 6d (Camb. Antig. Soc.)

- 145 A GENERAL Armory of England, Scotland, and Ireland; comprising a Registry of all Armorial Bearings, from the earliest to the present time, by J. BURKE, Esq. and J. B. BURKE, Esq., royal 8vo. THIRD EDITION, with Supplement, 1200 pages, in double columns, illuminated title-page, cloth, £1. 1s (pub. at £2. 2s)

The most useful book on Heraldry extant; it embodies all the arms of Guillim, Edmondson, Robson, Berry, and others, prefaced by a history of the art.

- 146 A GENEALOGICAL and Heraldic History of the Extinct and Dormant Baronetcies of England, Ireland, and Scotland, by J. BURKE, Esq. and J. B. BURKE, Esq., medium 8vo. SECOND EDITION, 638 closely printed pages, in double columns, with about 1000 arms engraved on wood, fine portrait of JAMES I., and illuminated title-page, extra cloth, 10s (pub. at £1. 8s)

This work, which has engaged the attention of the Authors for several years, comprises nearly a thousand families, many of them amongst the most ancient and eminent in the kingdom, each carried down to its representative or representatives still existing, with elaborate and minute details of the alliances, achievements, and fortunes, generation after generation, from the earliest to the latest period. The work is printed to correspond precisely with the last edition of Mr. Burke's Dictionary of the Existing Peerage and Baronetage; the armorial bearings are engraved in the best style, and are incorporated with the text as in that work.

- 147 PEDIGREES of the Nobility and Gentry of Hertfordshire, by WILLIAM BERRY, late and for fifteen years Registering Clerk in the College of Arms, Author of the "Encyclopædia Heraldica," &c. &c. folio, (only 125 printed), boards, £3. 10s—reduced to £1. 5s

"These Collections of Pedigrees will be found of great utility, though not of sufficient proof in themselves to establish the claims of kindred set forth in them: but affording a ready clue to such necessary proof whenever it should be required, by pointing out the places of nativity, baptism, marriages, and burials, and such other legal documents, as localities will otherwise afford, and the modern entries in the Herald's College, are of no better authority, requiring the very same kind of proof for legal purposes. This observation will perhaps silence the ill-natured remarks which have emanated from that quarter: and it is self-evident that the printing of 250 copies is a much safer record than one manuscript entry there, which might easily be destroyed."—Preface.

"The neighbourhood of Banbury is equally rich in British, Roman, Saxon, Norman, and English Antiquities, of all which Mr. Beesley has given regularly cleared accounts. Banbury holds an important place in the history of the Parliamentary War of the Seventeenth Century, and was the scene of the great Battle of Edghill, and of the important fight of Cropredy Bridge. Relating to the events of that period, the author has collected a great body of local information of the most interesting kind. By no means the least valuable part of Mr. Beesley's work, in his account of the numerous interesting early churches, which characterize the Banbury district."—The Archaeologist.

J. R. SMITH having bought the whole stock of the above very interesting volume, invites the Subscribers to complete their copies in parts without delay, the price of which will be (for a short time) 1s. 6d. instead of 2s. 6d.

"A very interesting guide to one of the most remarkable old Family Mansions, or we might even say, palaces, of England. The biographical notices of the portraits are very curious, and the description of old trees, and other particulars in the park and gardens will amuse the gardener; while the architect will be instructed by the engravings of different parts of the house, and of the ancient furniture, more particularly of the fire-places, fire-dogs, chairs, tripods, masks, sconces, &c."

- 158 BIBLIOTHECA CANTIANA, a Bibliographical Account of what has been published on the History, Topography, Antiquities, Customs, and Family Genealogy of the COUNTY of KENT, with Biographical Notes, by JOHN RUSSELL SMITH, in a handsome 8vo. volume, pp. 370, with two plates of fac-similes of Autographs of 33 eminent Kentish Writers, 14s reduced to 5s—large paper, 10s 6d

Tracts printed during the Civil War and Commonwealth, 1640-1660. V. - 159 THE LOCAL Historian's Table-Book of Remarkable Occurrences, Historical Facts, Traditions, Legendary and Descriptive Ballads, &c. &c., connected with the Counties of NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE, NORTHUMBERLAND, and DURHAM, by M. A. RICHARDSON, royal 8vo. profusely illustrated with woodcuts, now complete in 8 vols. royal 8vo. cloth, 9s each, or the Divisions sold separately as follows:—HISTORICAL DIVISION, 5 vols.—LEGENDARY DIVISION, 3 vols.

"The legendary portion will be found very interesting volumes by those who take no interest in the Historical portion.

"This chronology of local occurrences, from the earliest times when a date is ascertainable possesses an especial interest for the residents of the Northern Counties; but, inasmuch as it records Historical events as well as trivial incidents, and includes Biographical notices of men whose fame extended beyond their birth-places, it is not without a value to the general reader. The work is divided into two portions, the larger consisting of the chronicle, and the lesser of the traditions and ballads of the country. Some of these are very characteristic and curious; they invest with poetic associations almost every ruin or plot of ground; and the earlier legends of moss troopers and border-strifes afford an insight into the customs and state of society in remote periods. The handsome pages are illustrated with woodcuts of old buildings and other antiquities."—Spectator.

By ROBERT STUART, 4to. many fine plates, plates, 18s

"An able and highly readable (and cheap) volume on the transactions of the Romans in Scotland, and the remains they have left behind them in that part of the island. . . The little that is known of the acts of the Romans in Scotland, and of the state of the people in that age, is stated by Mr. Stuart in a graceful and flowing narrative. . . The view which he gives of the country, at the time when it was yet a sylvan wilderness, occupied by tribes not much different from those of Missouri and Araucania, is like a chapter in some beautiful romance. The roads and camps are all traced carefully, even unto Ptoroton and Bona, (Burghead and Loch Ness,) and an ample chapter at the end is devoted to the wall of Antoninus. . . The scholar has here a satisfactory account of the Roman Antiquities of Scotland, illustrated by numerous draughts (in Lithography); while the general reader is presented with a work which he may peruse for the sake of its information, without ever feeling it in the least dull."—Chambers's Journal.

- 190 LECTURES on Dramatic Art and Literature. By AUGUSTUS WILLIAM SCHLEGEL, translated from the German by JOHN BLACK, Esq., Editor of the 'Morning Chronicle,' 2 vols. foolscap 8vo. SECOND EDITION, cloth, 12s
"The present work contains a critical and historical account of the ancient and modern drama—the Greek, Latin, Italian, German, Spanish, and English. The view which the author has taken of the standard productions, whether tragic or comic, is ingenious and just, and his reasonings on the principles of taste are as satisfactory as they are profound. The acute and sensible remarks—the high tone of morality—are very admirable and exemplary ; and we refer those who desire to elevate their understandings to a guide so learned and philosophical as the author of these volumes."—*Edinb. " This is one of the most extraordinary collections of love epistles we have ever chanced to meet with, and the well known literary reputation of the lady—the Mrs. Thrale, of Dr. Johnson and Miss Burney celebrity—considerably enhances their interest. The letters themselves it is not easy to characterize; nor shall we venture to decide whether they more bespeak the drivelling of dotage or the folly of love; in either case they present human nature to us under a new aspect, and furnish one of those riddles which nothing yet dreamt of in our philosophy can satisfactorily solve."—Polytechnic Rev.
